If you have any questions, corrections, updates, please do go to the website and send an email. Updated: 24-12-2022.

We do not base our opinions on the very select organisations, published materials in Malta. We are an independent group that sources our information based on each individual nobility or distinctions and their original letters patent. Further-more with recognised authorities till 1974. Thereafter, we have found some renewed cases were not based on the Nobility title initial intentions. No private elite groupings can make decisions which profit their personal causes, even if the next of kin are not based in Malta.

2. Nobile Emilia Galea Feriol, (1852-1943), 8th Baroness of San

Marciano, Hereditary Noble of Hungary, This lady Emilia Trapani nee Galea Feriol is noted as having been 'nominated' in the title of San Marciano by her father Calcedonio Galea Feriol. On the basis of the genealogical chart, Calcedonio was Diego Antonio Galea Feriol's primogenial descendant but Emilia was only his younger child; moreover she was a female. Consequently, the reservations expressed above about the validity of a 'nomination' without the Sovereign's assent apply in this regard with the proviso that such testamentary 'nominations' appear to have gained general acceptance notwithstanding such failure. In the hypothesis that the 'nomination' by Calcedonio Galea Feriol in favour of Emilia Trapani was invalid, it follows that it was Calcedonio's eldest son, Nicola, who succeeded the title of San Marciano instead, as Nicola would have been the then primogenial descendant of Diego Antonio Galea Feriol. , married 1882 Floriana Malta to Magistrate. Dr Salvatore Trapani, LL.D. with issue.

The Barony of Tabria was created five times in the history of this fiefdom. First it was created in 1315 to Artaldo de la Barba, the reverted in 1407 and returned back in 1410. The descendants styled the fiefdom till 1647 when it was sold to the Knights of St John of Malta. The second time it was created in 1407 to Milite Francesco Gatto, then reverted back to the crown in 1408. 1408 it was granted to Nobile Matteo del Carretto dei Marchesi di Savona, Baron di Rahalbut, then reverted back to the Crown in 1410. In 1453 it was granted to Don Giovanni Landolina and held in the family till 1594, when the fiefdom was sold to the Knights of St John of Malta. The final time, in 1728, the Grand Master granted the fiefdom to Isidore Viani with the remainder of "Nobili Isidoro Viani et post tui obitum uni ex filiis vel filiabus legitimis et naturalibus ex te legitime procreatis vel procreandis, quem vel quam omni futuro constitutus seu respective constituta, malueritis eligendum vel eligendam. Et in casu tui vel tuorum in infinitu decensus absque ulla nominatione vel elctione successoris in dicto titulo, ex nunc censeatur nominatus et electus primogenitus, nisi erit ad sacros ordines promotus et in religione professus, et in defectu marium, foemina primogenita...". The title has a history of four claimants. As the title can be nominated to a successor, it was granted several times.

1. Present Titleholder is Nobile Justine Corinne Melita Pergola, 14th Baroness of Tabria, whom recently inherited the title and in the process of acquiring the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility to sanction it, as they had with her mother.

John A. Scicluna, (1903-70), 2nd Marquis Scicluna, 3rd Marchese Scicluna of the Holy Roman Empire, married 1921 to Nobile Mary Violet Testaferrata Moroni Viani, Baroness of Tabria., with issue

1. Joseph Scicluna, 3rd Marquis Scicluna, 4th Marquis Scicluna of the Holy Roman Empire, Duque de Scicluna, Baron of Tabria (renounced), died on the 6th of September 1995 in Rome. dnm. According to Gauci (1986 and 1992) the title of Baron of Tabria was in 1983 'brought out of abeyance' in favour of Joseph Scicluna, who in turn passed the title by means of a deed made in the acts of Notary Jeanette Laferla Saliba of the 14 January 1985 on to a kinswoman Lillianina Bugeja nee Falzon Sant Manduca ('by a transfer inter vivos, and ratification') and that this transaction was 'ratified' by the Committee of Privileges 25th July 1985. According to Maltese media reports, Bugeja died, also without having made a nomination, and the title was 'awarded' to the Sciclus's sister Corinne Ramsay. Some court cases were instigated both by Bugeja's son Philip as well as Ramsay and her daughter Christianne. During the court cases it resulted that Joseph Scicluna had also made a will in favour of Lillianina Bugeja. However, in each case the Maltese Courts declared themselves to have no jurisdiction to hear such matters because Malta had legislated in 1975 (Act XXIX of 1975) against recognition of nobiliary titles in any form whatsoever. In "The Scicluna Saga 1772-2008" John Micallef, (Farsons Foundation 2008) page 16 describes the Marchese Joseph Scicluna as a Duke: "Marquis Jose Juan Duque de Scicluna"

2. Patrick Scicluna, (1927-1978), Baron of Tabria - (Patrick Scicluna is noted as having been 'nominated' in the title of Baron of Tabria (last invested in the family of Testaferrata Viani in 1784).

The Conte della Bahria fiefdom was only ever recorded granted in 1743 to Nobile Ignazio Moscati Falzoni Navarra with the remainder of “The terms of the diploma differ from those of the other titles granted by the Grand Masters. In fact, the title of Conte della Bahria was annexed to the lands of the same name, situated in Malta, and which were erected by the said patent into a noble feud. Moreover, the title is inheritable not only by one of the grantee’s descendents, but by his sons and successors, whether relations or strangers, and it is annexed to the possession of those lands. The following is an extract from the diploma: Te Dnum Igantium Muscati Falsone Navarra tuosque filios, haeredes, et successores etiam extraneos, comitem et comites Territorii seu Tenutae della Bahria positae in hac Nostra Insula a Te et antecessoribus tuis jure pleni dominii et proprietatis possessae constitumus et in perpetuum creamus, dictamque tenutam seu territorum, illusque membra et districtum in feudum nobilem sub titulo comitis erigimus atque extollimus. Tuosque filios, haeredes, et successores etiam extraneos, comitem et comites Territorii seu Tenutae della Bahria positae in hac Nostra Insula a Te et antecessoribus tuis jure pleni dominii et proprietatis possessae constitumus et in perpetuum creamus, dictamque tenutam seu territorum, illusque membra et districtum in feudum nobilem sub titulo comitis erigimus atque extollimus.” The first title holder eldest daughter married to a Sicilian Conte di Casandola and continued together, both titles till the Earthquake of Messina in 1913, killing the entire family. The successor were from the female descendant, Palermo Navarra whom succeeded both titles till 1962. Confusion set in where the daughters of the 7th Count didn’t succeed in the Maltese titles, instead give to the 7th Count’s nephew through his sister, Gio Francesco Consoli, whom succeeded by his son. The letters patent states very clearly that if the estate is to be sold, the title goes along with it too. In 2005 or sometime before, the estate of Bahria was sold off to a Company. Presently the title of Bahria is Dormant with the last recognised titleholder, Salvatore Consoli recognised as the 9th Count of Bahria. No modern information is given if he is married or if his sister is married. Also the four daughters of the late 7th Count of Bahria are senior heirs of the title by right and clearly should in name claim the title. Though when the Company whom purchased the estate comes forward to claim the title, it is a total mayheim.

The title of Marchese was created in 1745 to Marchese Pandolfo Testaferrata de Noto with the remainder to Controversies arose between Mario’s descendants from his first and second marriages. It appears that the main dispute was his will opened 9 years after his death and published at Palermo by notary Dixidomino on the 16th April 1758, from which it appears that the said Mario willed as follows:- “in toto integro et indeminuito patrimonio ac in dicto titulo Marchiones Sancti Vincentii nec non etiam in ejus Palatio, etc ’ejus haeredem universalem instituit, ac proprio ore nominavit et nominat D. Gilbertum Testaferrata ejus filium”. In the same testament, we find also the following clause: “*Et quia dictus illustris testator ultra dictos Dominum Gilbertum et D. The Counts della Catena was created in 1745 by the Grand Master of Malta to Nobile Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna with the remainder to “Unlike the great majority of titles conferred by the Grand Masters, the title of Conte delle Catene, or delli Mori conferred by Grand Master Pinto, by a patent of the 20th January 1745, upon Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna was specifically conferred so as to further enhance a property already held in entail by the grantee. This title was granted on the 20th January 1745, upon Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna and his sons, born and to be born, as well as on his heirs and successors, whether relations or strangers. The entail referred to in the relative grant was the agnatial entail founded by Don Alessandro Perdicomati Bologna with a faculty to nominate amongst the male descendants. The following is an extract from the deed of grant:- "Te supradictum Dominum Petrum Cajetanum Perdicomati Bologna tuosque filios jam natos vel nascituros, haeredes et successores primogenitos et etiam extraneos, Comitem et Comites Territorii seu Tenutae delle Catene hodie vero delli Mori appellati, positi in hac Nostra Insula a te et antecessoribus possessi jure pleni dominii et proprietatis, nec non Primogenitura masculinae ordinatae per bon mem canonicum Don Alessandro Perdicomati Bologna.....in feudum nobilem sub titulo comitis erigimus atque extollimus." The entail is described in the footnote below was subject of court litigation. It is to be especially remarked that the terms of ennoblement extend to Perdicomati's sons, as well as on his heirs and successors, whether relations or strangers and that this title follows the tenure of the territory known as Catene. That is to say, unlike other titles which provide for a remainder in favour of descendants of the relative grantee, succession to this title is to be reckoned according to the possessor of the land who must be a male. This effectively means that the title may be succeeded to by strangers in blood of Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna. Moreover, the Report observes that the remainder of the above extract favours not only the one of the grantee's descendants, but the grantee's sons (born and to be born) heirs, AND successors (tuosque filios jam natos vel nascituros, haeredes et successores primogenitos et etiam extraneos), meaning that grant may allow to a plurality of claims being founded on the grant dated 1745. This view appears to be reinforced by the grant's use of the term comitem et comites. See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 35-36). On the other hand, the entail referred to above was an indivisible primogenitura and that ulterior succession was to be limited according to a primogenitura favouring males. Therefore although the grant envisages the possibility of a plurality of sons of the grantee, the remainder is effectively restricted only by reason of the indivisible nature of the entail restricted in favour of males. The present title holder is Henry Charles Hornyold Strickland dei Marchesi Gandolfi, 8th Count and one of his two sons as heirs. There was a claimant in the early 20th century, particularly with the estate of Bologna, the Marquis of Gnien is-Sultan claim the estates and title being more senior to Sir Gerald Strickland GCMG. Though the High Court ruled in favour of Sir Gerald Strickland.

1.8.2. X. Shaw-Savill, (1) (1973-., married 03-05-2005 at Cuenca in Ecuador. to Angelica Esther Flores Ayavaca.

The Barons of Buleben was created in 1777 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Gaetano Azzopardi MD with the remainder of "The 1777 grant like the title of Marchese di San Giorgio only to be enjoyed by the original grantee. The first Barone Gaetano who was clearly aware of the limited terms of the 1777 grant later presented a petition (in Italian) to the Grand Master, representing that "Whereas in the deed of grant of the title of 'Barone di Buleben' most benignly made to him, your Most Serene Highness had been pleased to order that on that occurrence the diploma should be issued from the cancelleria in favour of himself alone....And whereas in his family there existed a primogenitura erected in favour such among his children as he would name, and in default of nomination, in favour of his eldest son, and descendible to the first born males by the law of primogeniture (di primogenito in altro) until the total extinction of his male line, with power to each holder of it to name his successor; and wheareas the income of that Primogenitura was more than sufficient for the decent suport of its possessor, he (petitioner) begged that the grant of the title of 'Barone di Buleben' should be extended to such of his sons and male descendents as might for the time being be the holder of the Primogenitura". On this application the Grand Master endorsed the following rescript: "Magister Hospitalis Hyerusalem Gratiam petitam Oratori concedimus pro ejus filio successore in Primogenitura de qua in precibus, tantum. Datum in Palatio, die 25 Aprilis 1778". See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.)

The first born son of Gaetano, Calcedonio Azopardi, senior, after his father's death presented a petition to the Grand Master, requesting the investiture of the baronial title, submitting that the title had been granted to such of the grantee's sons as might be in possession of the Primogenitura, and producing an extract from an instrument from which it appeared that he had been named by his father to succeed to that Primogenitura. On this petition a decree was made on the 5th July 1788, and the formula of the oath for the investiture had already been partly drawn up, but it was afterwards, together with the petition, the decree, and the document, therein inserted, cancelled, as appears from the original records in the Cancelleria. The investiture was subsequently given to Barone Calcedonio, as may be seen from another authentic document in the Government Archives, bearing date the 10th August 1788; it begins thus: - 'Notum sit quod cum alias titulum Baronis feudi de Buleben, sub die 28 mensis Julii 1777, nobilis Cajetano Azzopardi pro ejus persona tantum concesserimus, quodque pariter, vigore nostri Magistralis Rescripti sub die 25 Aprilis 1778, editi, titulum hujusmodi etiam ad ejus filium Primogenituram habentem ampliaverimus, prout in hujusmodi concessionis diplomate et Rescripto, ad quae habeatur ratio plenius continetur.....' The present titleholder is the youngerson of the 9th Baron, Don Joseph Bernard Manduca Piscopo Macedonio Azopardi, who is also Heir to the Count of Montalto title and his only son is heir to the Barony of Buleben.

The Counts of Beberua was created in 1783 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Luigi Maria Gatto JUD. With the remainder of "Tibi tantum, concedimus, et fidelitate nostra donamus, ac te Comitatus hujusmodi titulo decoramus et insignimus nec non ita nominari posse et debere". The title of Conte di Beberua was granted on the 23rd October 1783 by Grand Master Rohan to Luigi (Ludovico) Gatto, in the following terms: - Tibi tribuimus, concedimus, et fidelitate nostra donamus, ac te Comitatus hujusmodi titulo decoramus et insignimus nec non ita nominari posse et debere. The terms of the grant are similar to those of the patents of the Barone di Buleben and the Marchese di San Giorgio in the sense that none of these original grants contain any provision for succession after the grantee. Such grants were by the Grand Master himself taken to be personal, and as such, they could only be extended on an application of the grantees themselves. According to the 1878 Commissioner. Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) ( Nicolò was born much later after the 1783 grant. In fact, Nicola was born of the grantee's second marriage, the grantee having remarried in 1795. Apart from the reasons explained in the Commissioner's report, it is therefore unlikely that in 1783 the Grand Master ever contemplated the possibility that Ludovico was going to have any issue at all.

The claimant Dr. Nicolò Gatto pursued his claim to the title which was granted to his father, and in 1883, a Committee of five Titolati (namely Ciantar, Apap Bologna, De Piro, Manduca and Delicata) recommended to the British Secretary of State for the Colonies that Our opinion is that the title at the death of the grantee vested in Conte Nicolò Gatto LL.D., the only surviving son of the person first ennobled, and that it should continue to descend, de primogenito in primogenitum in infinitum, to the male descendants of the grantee. Under these circumstances we consider this title fully deserving the grace and favour of recognition from the Crown, that the bearer may have his name duly entered in the official list of Titolati. This recommendation was accepted by the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Thus the adjusted succession as per the 1883 decision of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, allows Nicolò (or Nicola) Gatto to succeed Ludovico Gatto as the 2nd Count of Beberua.

The title has a history of breaking the letter patent remainder with the acknowledgement of the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility ruling after the sixth Count passing succeeding of his sister in 1941. Then after the 7th Countess's passing, succession to her niece, the Marchesa Maria Teresa Apap Bologna Caruana Gatto Deguara and presently held by her son, Paul Deguara Caruana Gatto, as the 9th Count and his brother as heir.

The Marquises of St George (di San Giorgio) was created three times. Initially in 1778 to Dr Carl Antonio Barbaro JUD for life, then in 1779 to his son and in 1792, his son received an extension to his heirs male. It is important to show the remainder of the 1792 letter patent to ensure creditability and no confusion.

“According to the 1878 Report, Gioacchino Ermolao Barbaro applied to the Grand Master for the extension of the title granted in 1778 and extended in 1779, to all of his descendents in perpetuum. His application was complied with by a rescript of the 5th June 1792. There is clearly no remainder regulating ulterior transmission by the rules of primogeniture. Instead, the remainder (made on a rescript) is very wide and extends to all of Gioacchino Barbaro's descendants. In the other parts of the afore-said Commissioner's Report, this conclusion is very clear. In fact the Report at paragraphs 41 to 57 says Thus the Marchese Barbaro had requested and obtained that the title should be extended to at least his first born son, who subsequently applied for and obtained a further extension for all his descendents in perpetuum (#59, 60). The Marchese Mallia Tabone had likewise prayed that his title should be made to extend after his death to his male descendents successively, and in default of male issue to his female descendents, and had obtained from the Grand Master an extension in favour of his first born male descendents only (#68). Similarly, the same Report at paragraphs 62-66 says The terms of the grant are similar to those of the preceding patents granted to Barone Azzopardi and to Marchese Barbaro, containing no provision for the descent of the title to sons, heirs, descendents, and successors of the grantee. The two preceding grants, as we have already remarked, were by the same Grand Master taken to be personal, and as such, they were extended on an application of the grantees themselves, either to their first-born son exclusively, or as in the instance of Marchese Barbaro, to all their descendants for ever. See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) In view of this, it follows that there is a plurality of Marchesi di San Giorgio, that is to say more than one person enjoying the title at the same time! The question that remains is whether 'all descendants' here means exactly what it says or whether there are some principles of interpretation which moderate a wide interpretation, that is to say whether the title of Marchese di San Giorgio as extended in 1792 can in fact be transmitted to females descended from Carlo Antonio Barbaro, or to males claiming from Carlo Antonio Barbaro through a female line. The aforesaid 1878 report answers this question of interpretation where the Commissioners pointed out. The claimant lastly contends that the diploma and the rescript must be extensively construed; for although it is a legal maxim, Privilegia sunt stricte interpretanda, the privileges, however, granted by a sovereign authority, and which do not act to the prejudice of third parties, are susceptible of a wide and liberal interpretation. Although this is admitted by the common opinion of civilians, yet that principle holds good with regard to those privileges which are granted by the sovereign's mere motion (moto proprio) and not at the request of the party concerned (Jasonii Comment. Quoted by Altograd. Consilia Con. 71, No. 9, 10, 11, and by many other legal writers). Now as a general rule, patents of nobility in Malta were granted by the Grand Masters at the request of the grantee, and it was moreover upon an application by Barone Azzopardi that the rescript of 1778 was issued. It is likewise a settled opinion that, when the patent of creation does not contain the expression motu proprio, the grant is taken to have been made at the request of the party concerned. (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 41-57). There are many other arguments which militate against construing the 1792 rescript in favour of 'mere' females and/or 'mere' male descendants claiming through a female line.”

The male descendant titleholder should be Marchese James St James as the 8th Marquis of St George, and his brother as heir.

The Claimant through his mother, whom was the eldest daughter of the 6th Marchese of San Giorgio is presently the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese, Dr Anthony Cremona Barbaro LLD as the 8th De jure Marquis of St George.

The Marquises of Fiddien was initially created in 1785 then extended in 1793 by the Grand Master of Malta to Salvatore Mallia Tabone. The Remainder to “The title of Marchese del Fiddien was conferred by Grand Master De Rohan upon Salvatore Mallia Tabone, by a patent of the 15th October 1785. The terms of the patent are identical with the original patents of Barone di Buleben, (Azzopardi), Marchese di San Giorgio, (Barbaro) and Conte di Beberua (Gatt), in the sense that it contains no description of children or descendants, but only the name of the person ennobled. The patent granted to Mallia Tabone reads thus: Tibi donamus ac te Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of

Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 67-69). Consequently the grant of 1785, on its own, cannot be construed to benefit any of the grantee's descendants.

*In regard to the title of Marchese del Fiddien, the 1878 Commissioners observed: This grant was also taken by the Grand Master to be personal to the grantee, for after the grant, the Marchese Salvatore presented a petition praying that, in consideration of the merits of his ancestors, the grant might be made to extend to his legitimate and natural male descendants successively, and in default of male issue to his female descendants: and by a rescript of the 15th June 1793, the request was only partly complied with, in the following terms: Fiat pro primogenitis maribus tantum. The Marchese della Taflia was created twice in 1783 and again in 1790. Firstly, in 1783 it was created to Dr Gio Battista Mompalao JUD, as the Marchese della Taflia, dying without legitimate issue in 1787. The second creation in 1790 to Dr Saverio Alessi JUD and the remainder to “The patent conferring the title of Marchese della Taflia was on the 13th November 1790, granted by Grand Master Rohan to the aforesaid Saverio Alessi. In this grant a singular circumstance is noticeable. The patent of creation bears that the title is inheritable by the grantee’s descendants in the following terms: - Tibi Magnifico ac Nobili Xaverio Alessi tuisque legitimis descendentibus tribuimus, concedimus, et donamus, ac de Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus, nec non ita nominari pose ac debere. ; The grant does not state whether the title should be enjoyed by all the said descendants simultaneously, or by only one of them under the rule of primogeniture. See Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033).” So all descendants can style Marchese/a in the legitimate lineage.

The present titleholder is Marchesa Cheryl Sammut Testaferrata Alessi Runnacles. I am unsure if she has any children, and if not, her heir would be a descendant of the Marchese Carmelo Sammut Alessi.

Saverio Alessi, 1st Marquis della Taflia, Cr:1790 (The patent conferring the title of Marchese della Taflia was on the 13th November 1790, granted by Grand Master Rohan to the aforesaid Saverio Alessi. In this grant a singular circumstance is noticeable. The patent of creation bears that the title is inheritable by the grantee's descendants in the following terms: - Tibi Magnifico ac Nobili Xaverio Alessi tuisque legitimis descendentibus tribuimus, concedimus, et donamus, ac de Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus, nec non ita nominari pose ac debere. ; The grant does not state whether the title should be enjoyed by all the said descendants simultaneously, or by only one of them under the rule of primogeniture. See Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (See Report Paras. 70-71 ). The 1878 Commissioners did not enter into the merits of the remainder, noting only that this grant was in the family, always taken to be limited to the first-born descendant only, contenting themselves with the fact that The claimant of the title of Marchese della Taflia, Bernardo Alessi, is the grandson of the person first ennobled, and the first-born male child in the family. No person having disputed his claim, he will be included in our list, and styled Bernardo Alessi Marchese della Taflia. It should be recalled however that the same Commissioners elsewhere in their report stated that it cannot be assumed that titles can be lawfully explained, construed, or extended by private agreements. See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) It is also worthwhile noting that the argument that such title has always been considered as descendible only in the primogenial line of the original grantee cannot hold. (It is also to be remarked that this argument was merely observed by the Commissioners and that they neither agreed nor disagreed with it.) This is being said because: (1) when one considers the fact that the grant relative to Taflia is worded in terms which are different to those relative to other grants and extensions made by the same Grand Master. For example the title of Ghain Kajet (4.06.1796) reads tuisque descendentibus primogenitis legitimis et naturalibus tribuimus concedimus, et donamus, the title of Gnien-is-sultan (1.12.1792) reads Tibi Magnifico Philippo Apap, tuisque descendentibus masculis legitimis et naturalibus ipsisque deficientibus, foemina majori natu, tribuimus, concedimus et donamus, ac te Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus, and the extension to Fiddien (17.06.1793) reads Fiat pro primogenitis maribus tantum. Similarly, the San Giorgio extension (5.6.1792) accorded remainder to all (male) descendants in perpetuum; (2) Moreover, whilst the Commissioners remarked in regard to title of a foreign origin that they cannot, in fact, suppose that the Grand Masters were disposed to recognize, without any investigation, and as a matter independent of their own sovereign assent and approbation, as Titolati in their dominion, any persons indiscriminately who should have obtained a title of nobility from any foreign Sovereign, Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (See Report Para. 102), it is reasonable to assert that the Grand Master knew full well that different remainders bring along different implications, and (3) Moreover, it is manifest that the grant of 13.11.1790 does not include any references to remainder by primogenial descent. This grant of Taflia is also different to the extension of San Giorgio in the sense that the former is the actual grant whereas the latter was made after a rescript. Thus, in view of the absence of any clause limiting the remainder of the Taflia title to the primogenial descendant, the grant relative to the title of Taflia must be construed as favouring all legitimate descendants of Saverio Alessi), married Firstly on 1756 to Saveria Scicluna (Died 1777), married Secondly 1783 to Gertrude Bres, with issue.

The Counts of Ghajn Tuffieha / Conte di Ghajn

Tuffieha was created in 1792 to Dr Ferdinando Teuma Castelletti JUD with the remainder to “One of the leaders of the Maltese uprising against the French in 1798, The grant conferring the title of Conte of the feud magistrale (i.e. belonging to the Grand Master) of Ghajn Toffieha was made by Grand Master Rohan to Ferdinando Teuma Castelletti to be held by the grantee and his issue.

However, it is to be remarked that this grant was not made by a patent but by a rescript of the 7th January 1792, on the petition of the same Ferdinando, that is to say upon an application by Ferdinando Teuma Castelletti for that title and remainder. The wide terms of the rescript (with remainder to Ferdinando's issue) would at first sight imply that all of Ferdinando's descendants are entitled to the title. On the other hand, however, it must be remembered that the 1878 Commissioners noted that it is a settled rule that any interpretation of Magistral assent to a rescript must be restrictive whilst wide interpretations are only allowed in grants made motu proprio. This maxim is explained by the Commissioners elsewhere in their Report thus: The claimant lastly contends that the diploma and the rescript must be extensively construed; for although it is a legal maxim, Privilegia sunt stricte interpretanda, the privileges, however, granted by a sovereign authority, and which do not act to the prejudice of third parties, are susceptible of a wide and liberal interpretation. Although this is admitted by the common opinion of civilians, yet that principle holds good with regard to those privileges which are granted by the sovereign's mere motion (moto proprio) and not at the request of the party concerned (Jasonii Comment. Quoted by Altograd. Consilia Con. 71, No. 9, 10, 11, and by many other legal writers). Now as a general rule, patents of nobility in Malta were granted by the Grand Masters at the request of the grantee, and it was moreover upon an application by Barone Azzopardi that the rescript of 1778 was issued. It is likewise a settled opinion that, when the patent of creation does not contain the expression motu proprio, the grant is taken to have been made at the request of the party concerned. (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (See Report Paras. 41-57)”. So all male to male descendants can enjoy the style of Count and females for life only. Though the present titleholder is Contessa Mary Frances Teuma Castelletti McCutcheon, 6th Contessa di Ghajn Tuffieha and heir is the eldest granddaughter, as heiress and styles Continessina di Ghajn Tuffieha.

Marchese Paolo Nicolo Apap Bologna (c 1880-1955) , '5th' (joint 5th) Marquis di Gnien is Sultan, Hereditary Noble of Hungary, Although Dr Filippo Antonio Apap Bologna was in terms of the 1792 grant entitled to participate in the enjoyment of the title of Marchese di Gnien Is-Sultan, it appears that published sources only refer to him as a mere Marchesino (heir to the title) and that the title was not succeeded by him but by his eldest son John. This enumeration would be correct had the title been granted with a primogenial remainder. However, as seen from the terms of the grant, there is no such primogenial remainder, married firstly 1895 to Dona Maria Teresa de Piro Gourgion dei Baroni della Budaq, with issue, married secondly 1922 Valletta and Birkirkara to Nobile Guiseppina Caruana Gatto dei Conti della Beberua, with further issue.

The Counts of Senia was created in 1795 by the Grand Master de Rohan Polduc to his natural son, Vincenzo Fontani Crespi with the remainder to “Nobili Puero Vincentio Fontani Crespo, te tuosque descendentes comitem et comites territorii seu possessionis dictae ta Senia posita in hac nostra insula, in loco della Marsa, tuosque utriusque sexus filios et descendentes, comitem et comites praefati territorii sive possessionis ta Senia dicimus et nominamus. "te tuosque descendentes comitem et comites territorii seu possessionis dictae ta Senia posita in hac nostra insula, in loco della Marsa, tuosque utriusque sexus filios et descendentes, comitem et comites praefati territorii sive possessionis ta Senia dicimus et nominamus".

The title became dormant after the death of Marchese Roger Messina Fontani, 5th Conte di Senia in 1956. The title laid dormant till the late 20th century when a descendant in Malta claimed the title as the 6th Count. Marchese Joseph A. Bugeja Fontani, KM, dying in 2018. The most senior heir were in France and only in recent years have made it known their interest in the title and fiefdom. The present titleholder in the most senior descendant is Marchesa Marthe Monique Donnat Fontani Roulet, as the 8th De jure Contessa di Senia and her son, Patrice Roulet Fontani as the Contino di Senia.

Marchese Luigi Fontani Alessi (1815-86), 2nd Conte di Senia and Count Palatine, [It is to be remarked that the wide remainder was in 1887 considered by a Committee of Nobles upon the joint request of Luigi Fontanis son and daughters who applied that they be recognised as legitimate holders of the title of Counts della Senia. The Committee (composed of Conte Ciantar, Marchese Apap, Marchese Depiro, Marchese Delicata, Marchese Testaferrata Olivier) decided on the 27.1.1887 that: Considering from the terms of the said concession it results that the said title should be held by the first born, and transmitted to the first born in lineal descent from the male line of the first holder, and in default of this from the female line of the said holder in the order of primogeniture; From the documents produced it is proved that the said petitioner, the noble Vincenzo Fontani is the only male offspring of the lately deceased Count Luigi, and therefore he has the exclusive right to the said title of Conte della Senia. The Committee further declares and decides that the other petitioners, the noble Elena and Geltrude Fontani, cannot be allowed to enjoy the said title before the line of the actual Count Vincenzo is extinct. (See:- Copies or Extracts of Further Correspondence with Reference to the Maltese Nobility, August 1888, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-5490.) (See Sitting of the 27 January 1887 pages A3-A4). This decision was transmitted to Governor Simmons who in turn forwarded the decision to Secretary of State for the Colonies Henry Thurstan Holland who responded as follows: The second matter which you submit to me is that of the succession to the title of Conte della Senia. The Committee has arrived at a decision on the subject, which in my opinion, may be accepted without prejudice to any decision of a competent court of law. The Committee should be so informed, and a notice, pursuant to this decision, should appear in the Gazette. (See:- Copies or Extracts of Further Correspondence with Reference to the Maltese Nobility, August 1888, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-5490.) (See Letter of Sir. H.T. Holland to Sir J.M. Simmons pages B3-B4). Whatever the motivations of that Committee of 1887, it is clear that the 1795 grant in favour of Fontani does not stipulate any remainder by rule of Primogeniture. Unfortunately, there is no indication that the 1887 decision was ever contested, However it is worth remarking that such decision is wrong. The Marchese di Ghajn Qajjed was created in 1796 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Gerolamo Delicata JUD with the remainder to “ac Nobili Hyeronimo Delicata, tuisque descendentibus primogenitis legitimis et naturalibus tribuimus concedimus, et donamus”. The present titleholder is Michael Formosa Gauci as the 6th Marchese and his brother Josef Formosa Gauci, KM as heir with style of Marchesino di Ghajn Qajjed.

Don Dr Giuseppe Delicata, LL.D. (died 1824), 2nd Marchese di Ghajn Kajet, (Some published sources declare this title to be extinct or in abeyance (e.g. see Montalto, J. The Nobles of Malta, MidSea Books, 1980, p.367). This view is probably inspired by the fact that the male-to-male issue of the grantee Gerolamo Delicata was extinguished upon the death of the 3rd Marchese. On the other hand, however, this view is contradicted by the preferred argument that this title may be transmitted in the female line according to the general rules of primogeniture, which allow artificial agnation whenever this has either not been expressly excluded, or wherever there do not exist circumstances which exclude it. In this case, the title would have been succeeded by Luigi Manduca Gauci (3.1.1.). However, even if the remainder allows a male descended in the female line, it is unclear whether in this case, the remainder tuisque descendentibus primogenitis legitimis et naturalibus tribuimus concedimus, et donamus allows a female to hold the title, particularly because the formula does not continue making provision for enjoyment by females, as witness in similar titles granted by the Grand Masters whenever these refer to a primogenial remainder. A third argument could be that upon the death of the 3rd Marchese, the title should have been construed in favour of the next seniormost male to male descendant of the original grantee, in this case the male-to-male descendants of the first Marchese, namely Temistole Delicata (see above - 3.1.1) who was alive at the time of death of the 3rd Marchese falling whom Temistole's son Giuseppe Delicata (see above). This last argument is academic in view of the fact that it now appears that all of Gerolamo Delicata's male-to-male descendants are extinct.), married 1817 to Nobile Vincenza dei Baroni Gauci-Ducoss, Hereditary Noble of Hungary, with issue.

The Barony of San Giovanni was first created in 1657 in Messina, Sicily by King Philip IV of Sicily and Spain to Dr Vincenzo Abela JUD. The remainder was to "o his legitimate and natural descendants simultaneously "jure longobardum" in perpetuity, 1926, Kingdom of Italy rule of succession changed to only male descendants of the family only". The title legitimately acknowledged by the Grand Master till 1746 where it became extinct. Though other descendants laid claim to the title till 1830 and since been dormant.

Another descendants of the first titleholder received a new creation in 1777 by the King Ferdinand I of Two Sicilies to Conte Giorgio Serafino Ciantar Paleologo with remainder to “to his legitimate and natural descendants simultaneously "jure longobardum" in perpetuity, 1926, Kingdom of Italy rule of succession changed to only male descendants of the family only”. Though the Kingdom of Italy new law of 1926 announcing only male descendants to succeed all nobility titles or the title goes to next male descendant or if extinguished then extinct. The last titleholder was Francis Chapelle, 7th Barone di San Giovanni, dying in 2011. His kinsman, Kenneth Chapelle styles as the 8th de jure Barone di San Giovanni.

Nobile Sir Alessandro Chapelle, Kt. (1839-1909), 4th Baron of San Giovanni (By Nomination (?)), It appears that in terms of Sicilian law of the time, it was permitted for a title to be transmitted through a female line. This law was however changed after Alessandro Chapelle death by the new monarchy of a unified Italy. In any case, it is unclear whether the 'nomination' in favour of Alessandro was within the 'circumstances' indicated by the Viceroy in 1657. In terms of the Statuto delle successioni ai titoli e agli attributi nobiliari (Regio Decreto 16 agosto 1926, n. 1489 article 1 reads 'Alle antiche disposizioni che con norme diverse, nelle singole regioni d'Italia, regolavano ora l'ordine delle successioni, riguardo ai titoli ed attributi nobiliari concessi dai Sovrani degli antichi Stati, prima della unificazione politica, sono surrogate le disposizioni seguenti (etc.)'. In the body of that law, it appears that there is no savings clause for any power 'to nominate' as indicated in the 1657 (and 1777) grant. Consequently, it appears that according to Italian Law the faculty to nominate was abrogated in 1926. In addition article 12 of the same Statuto reads: Le disposizioni e le consuetudini riflettenti la successione nei titoli di nobilita', contrarie alla presenti disposizioni, sono abrogate.'), married 1865 Valletta to Ludgarda Mifsud, with issue.

1.1. Nobile Joseph Victor Chapelle, (1894-1962), (noted as '6th Baron of San Giovanni'), In terms of the Statuto delle successioni ai titoli e agli attributi nobiliari (Regio Decreto 16 agosto 1926, n. 1489 article 2 reads: Le successione nei titoli nobiliari e annessi predicate ha luogo a favore dell' agnazione maschile dell' ultimo investito per ordine di primogenitura, senza limitazione di gradi, con preferenza della linea sul grado. I chiamati alla successione devono discendere per maschi dallo stipite comune, primo investito del titolo. I titoli non si trasmettono alle femmine, ne per linea femminile, salvo quanto dispone il primo capoverso dell' art. 4. The latter capoverso reads 'Quelli concessi, oltre che tutti i maschi, anche alle femmine, spettano allo medesimo solo durante lo stato nubile e non danno luogo a successione.' Article 5 reads: I titoli provenienti da femmine, che, alla entrata in vigore delle presenti disposizioni sono legittimamente pervenuti alla loro discendenza maschile, continuano a devolversi alla medesima discendenza, secondo le norme stabilite nel' art. 2. Estinte le linee maschili, aventi per stipite comune la femmina intestataria del titolo, questo con gli annessi predicati ritorna, preview patenti di Regio assenso, all' agnazione maschile della famiglia, alla quale apparteneva nel giorno della promulgazione delle leggi abolitive della feudalita' osservate le norme stabilite nell' art. 2. Some time later in 1943, further Italian legislation was enacted. In terms of the Ordinamento dello Stato nobiliare italiano (Regio Decreto 7 giugno 1943, n.651) article 40 reads: Le successioni dei titoli, predicate e attributi nobiliari hanno luogo a favore della agnazione maschile dell' ultimo investito, per ordine di primogenitura senza limitazione di gradi con preferenza della linea sul grado. I chiamati alla successione debbono discendere per maschi dallo stipite comune, primo investito del titolo. I titoli, i predicate e gli attributi nobiliari non so trasmettono per linea femminile, salvo quanto dispone il primo capoverso dell' art. 45.' The latter capoverso reads 'Estinte le linee maschili, aventi per stipite, comune la femmina intestataria del titolo, questo con gli annessi predicate ritorna, previe Lettere Patenti di Regio Assenso, all' agnazione maschile della famiglia alla quale apparteneva nel giorno della promulgazione delle leggi abolitive della feudalita, osservate le norme stabilite dall' art. 40.', married 1931 to Kathleen Edwina Peel, with issue.

The Marchese di San Vincenzo Ferreri was created in 1716 in the Kingdom of Naples to Nobile Mario Testaferrata de Robertis, Patrizio Messina e Roma with the remainder to his legitimate and natural male descendants in perpetuity. 1926 Italian law by Royal Decree dictates succession by strict agnatic male descent. The Conte Preziosi title was created in 1718 in the Kingdom of Sicily to Captiano Giuseppe Preziosi, a Knight of St Mark of Venice, a Privateer. The remainder to “his legitimate and natural male descendants in perpetuity. Some published sources list Gio Francesco Preziosi as the 2nd Conte (in terms of the ius feudale francorum). The Conte di Mont'alto was created in 1720 and reconfirmed again in 1776. Initially it was created by Francis I Farnese, Reigning Duke of Parma in 1720 to Dr Bernardo Piscopo Macedonia JUD with the remainder to “The title of Conte di Mont Alto in the Duchy of Parma, was, together with the fief of Monte Alto, conferred at the grantee’s request, by Francis I (Farnese), Duke of Parma, upon Bernardo Piscopo, by a Rescript given at Piacenza on the 8th July 1720.)The grantee did not have any (legitimate) issue, so he made another request to the Duke of Parma, in order that he be granted “the power of disposing of the fief in favour of Felice Manduca Piscopo, his grand-nephew, or of one of the brothers of the said Felice, and so in favour of such of them as Bernardo might designate his heir, and of his legitimate and natural male children and descendants from a real and lawful wedlock issuing in infinitum, according to the order of primogeniture, or in such any other manner as petitioner might prefer to dispose thereof, so that in case he should die without issue as aforesaid, the above-mentioned fief, with the title of Count, with its jurisdictions, power of the sword, and its merum and mixtum imperium ..should be vested in the aforesaid Manduca, or in such of his brothers as the petitioner might nominate to be his heir, in the same manner and form as if the latter were expressly included and designated in the said grant and investiture, and this (he requested) in order that in the family of his said grand-nephews, that is of such of them as might be his heir, the glorious token of a perpetual vassalage to the Most Serene dynasty of your Highness might always be preserved in its lustre”.

1724 and 1725, Bernardo nominated his eldest grandnephew, Felice Manduca Piscopo to succeed him, Felice, the 2nd Conte died in 1775, leaving no male issue. However, his brother, Salvatore Manduca Piscopo, petitioned Ferdinand I, Duke of Parma for permission to succeed the title. A rescript was issued granting this request on 1776. Since then, the title has descended through the male line according to primogeniture.” A kinsman of the 1st titleholder received a regrant (confirmation) to continue use of the title in 1776 by Ferdinand I, Reigning Duke of Parma to Nobile Salvatore Manduca Piscopo, Capitano della Verga of Malta and Hereditary Knight of the Holy Roman Empire. The remainder to his male descendants by primogeniture. The Present titleholder is Don Alfred Manduca Piscopo Macedonia, 7th (9th) Conte di Mont’Alto and his brother as heir, Don Alfred Manduca Piscopo Macedonia Azopardi, Contino di Mont’Alto and Barone di Buleben.

the five titolati who were appointed to form a Committee in 1883 as results from the document Report of the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese Nobility on the claims of certain members of that body with the Secretary of State's Reply, August 1883, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C-3812), . dunm.

The Graf (Conte) Fournier was created in 1770 by Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria, Archduchess of Tuscany to Giorgio Fournier, Freiherr von Pausier with the remainder to his male descendants in order of primogeniture. The direct line died out after the second Graf and succeeded by the eldest daughter with confirmation of the Grand Master and her descendants were reconfirmed by the royal commission in 1878. [The above stated circumstances lead us to conclude that no great importance was formerly attached by the Local Government to a proper use of the titles of nobility. In confirmation of this statement, we may mention that in several Government notices, the late Baldassare Sant was styled Count, to which title he had no right. His son and heir, Lazzaro Sant, does not claim but the titles of Conte and Barone Fournier de Pausier, which he inherited from his mother Luigia, wife of the said Baldassare, to whom they were not certainly communicable.

Title of Count in the kingdoms and provinces of the Austrian Empress (granted to Giorgio Fournier de Pausier on the 29 January 1770 by Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria); No decision was reached by the Commissioners in either their report or their supplemental report on the claim of Lazzaro Sant-Fournier-de-Pausier, who descends from the grantee's granddaughter. The British Secretary of State then permitted the claim of Lazzaro Sant Fournier and his successors, for the purpose of precedence, to take the place to which they would be entitled under the principles of legal interpretation applicable to the grant if it had emanated in 1770 from the Sicilian or Maltese Sovereign authority] In not so many words, the British Royal Commission in 1878 may have recreated a new nobility title of Earl de Fournier. The Present titleholder is Conte Stephen Sant Fournier, 9th Graf von Fournier, 9th Freiherr von Pausier, Hereditary Count Sant and possibility as the 6th Earl de Fournier in the UK. His heir is one of his two sons.

Married Secondly 1759 Valletta to Maria Galea Feriol dei Baroni di San Marcianno, dsp. Footnote: The 1878 Commissioners held that the first time that the Grand Masters acknowledged a title of Barone in regard to the possessor of both lands Djar il-Bniet et Buqana was only as late as the 30 April 1725 in favour of Marc Antonio Inguanez. In fact the Commissioners reported as follows:- Although this does not appear to have been expressly granted in the diplomas or Privilegia given in 1350 and in 1372, yet there are sufficient grounds for holding that at a later period that title was conferred or recognized, for Grand Master Manoel, on the 30th April 1725, issued a Prammatica or Ordinance, by which in order to remedy abuses and inconveniences, which had for some time prevailed in regard to titles, that Grand Master ordered and commanded that thenceforward no advocate, notary, or attuario should take upon himself to give in any instrument, contract, or other public act drawn up by him, the title of illustrissimo or of nobile to any of the prince's vassals, with the exception of the Capitano della Verga pro tempore, of the two Magistrati of the cities of Valetta and Notabile, and the Milite barone Marc'Antonio Inguanez our feudatory, and Baronessa Inguanez his wife, and their descendants. Other nobles who will be mentioned hereafter were subsequently excepted from the provisions of the above Prammatica. Barone Marco Antonio Inguanez is the ancestor of Maria Teresa Damico, the present Baronessa. By the foregoing legislative act he, as the holder of the two fiefs in question, and his descendants were recognized by the former Government as barons. Marc' Antonio was moreover thirty-four times between the years 1705 and 1760, appointed Capitano della Verga, and always designated as Barone Inguanez. (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (See Report Paras. 91-96). Marc'Antonio Inguanez could not have been the ancestor of Maria Teresa Inguanez because he had died childless. also 10th Barone di Ortigos del Panades in Aragon.

2.1.1.1.2.1.1.1.1. (Second marriage) Ignazio Francesco Wizzini Paleologo, (1674-1744), 1st Conte Wzzini Paleologo (Cr:1711 (??) by Pope Clement XI (??)), Published sources show this title of Conte enjoyed by the family Wzzini Paleologo as having been granted by Pope Clement XI on the 8 November 1711 and enjoying precedence in Malta with effect from 1722. This is not the case and does no justice to the conjectural exercise carried out by the 1878 Commissioners who in upholding this title, could not point out how, when and in whose favour it originated and, moreover, they stated that there was no proof that this family was in possession of the title of Conte prior to the year 1722!. In this case, no grant relative to the title in question appears to have been registered in the Cancelleria of the Order. This title was examined as one of many other titles described in the Section of the report headed Titles granted by foreign sovereigns during the Government of the Order of the Knights of Malta (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (See Report Paras. 192-198). Moreover, the Commissioners arriving at their decision allowing this claim, attested that there was no proof of the title existing at any time before 1722. In view of the fact that the earliest reference of this title is found in a letter dated 1722 of Grand Master Zondadari to Ignazio Wizzini, it follows that this title is for all intents considered as one that originated in Malta, even though it was considered by the Commissioners under the section dedicated to foreign titles. In regard to remainder of this title, it would appear on the basis of the Commissioners observations, that the title may be transmitted to male descendants descending through a female line by regular primogeniture. In fact the report observed that the title originally made out in favour of Wzzini was eventually succeeded to by the Ciantar Paleologo family whilst that cadets of that family are only entitled to the designation dei Conti (ex Comitibus); Married 1694 to Generosa Vella Abela dei Baroni di San Giovanni, with issue.

In the 1878 Commissioners Report we find: It is proper to remark, in order to remove any difficulty that may arise from the adoption of the different surnames of Wzzini and Ciantar, that Count the Conte Ignazio Wzzini had no other children but one daughter named Teodora, who married Giovanni Antonio Ciantar. Of Teodora Conte Serafino was born, who left on his death the Conte Gio Battista, father of the present claimant Serafino, who became the first-born son of the family, by the decease, without issue, of his eldest brother the Conte Giovanni Antonio Ciantar. (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) 2.1.1.1.2.1.1.1.1.1.1.2.5.3.2. Nobile Sir Alessandro Chapelle, Kt. (1839-1909), 4th Baron of San Giovanni (By Nomination ?), It appears that in terms of Sicilian law of the time, it was permitted for a title to be transmitted through a female line. This law was however changed after Alessandro Chapelle death by the new monarchy of a unified Italy. In any case, it is unclear whether the 'nomination' in favour of Alessandro was within the 'circumstances' indicated by the Viceroy in 1657. In terms of the Statuto delle successioni ai titoli e agli attributi nobiliari (Regio Decreto 16 agosto 1926, n. 1489 article 1 reads 'Alle antiche disposizioni che con norme diverse, nelle singoli regioni d'Italia, regolavano ora l'ordine delle successioni, riguardo ai titoli ed attributi nobiliari concessi dai Sovrani degli antichi Stati, prima della unificazione politica, sono surrogate le disposizioni seguenti (etc). ' In the body of that law, it appears that there is no savings clause for any power 'to nominate' as indicated in the 1657 (and 1777) grant. Consequently, it appears that according to Italian Law the faculty to nominate was abrogated in 1926. In addition article 12 of the same Statuto reads: Le disposizioni e le consuetudini riflettenti la successione nei titoli di nobilita', contrarie alla presenti disposizioni, sono abrogate. ), married 1865 Valletta to Ludgarda Mifsud, with issue.

The Principality of Selimbria was created in 1443 by Emperor John VIII Paleologo of the Byzantine Empire to Prince Theodore Paleologo of the Byzantine Empire with the remainder to his descendants. As similar to the Despot of Mystra, the title was used as de Jure since the fall of the Byzantine Empire and eventually succeeded by Conte Sir Giorgio Serafino Ciantar Paleologo as the 19th Prince of Selimbria. The title separated after his brother's death in 1888 and went to a male nephew whose descendants hold the title today. The present titleholder is Conte Dr Alexander Borg Olivier LLD as the 24th Prince of Selimbria and his nephew as heir, Conte Stefano Borg Olivier.

(See lineage in Despot of Mystra).

The Principe Ottomani title was created in essence of recognition to the child born to a Ottoman Prince Djem, who fled his brother. The son born was Prince Pierre Mehmed Ottomani, born 1492 at Rome and Pope Alexander VI Borgia recognised the baby as the Prince Ottomani with full rights of a royal birth, ensuring that his descendants also receive their just caused rights in the Christian faith. Singularly to all the descendants of Principe Mehmed Sayd in the male primogenial line born in the Christian faith. According to the Letters Patent, only those born within the marriage in the Church of Rome and within the vows of marriage to ensure that true christian lineage continues from the legacy given to a friend and convert to the Church of Rome. This applies to the Prince Djem's son Pierre Mehmed and his descendants in the order of Primogeniture. Further, the Church of Rome extends its ruling that if a child is born before one's parents marriage and is baptised will not be entitled to succeed. Pope Alexander VI clearly marked this in the letter's patent dated November 1492. To continue the lineal line of senior descent of Principe Djem Ottomani according to the original conversion acts set by Pope Alexander VI upon acceptance of onto the Church of Rome. It is very clear that no descendants can style Prince or Princess due to the christian faith conversion over the generations, hence the exclusion from the Ottoman line of succession. This was also noted in a letter from the late HH, Osman V, 43rd Head of the house of Osman. The direct male line died out in 1683 when the next kinsman succeeded through the descent of 4th and 8th Prince Ottomani and acknowledgement of the Grand Master of Malta. The Present titleholder or claimant is Principe Giuseppe Said, as the 17th Principe Ottomani and his eldest son as Heir, Conte Charles Said-Vassallo.

Prince Mehmed Pierre, Converted to Christianity in Rome, (1475 Konya - 1522 Executed in Rhodes Island), created 1492 by Pope Alexander VI Borgia, Principe di Bibino, created Visconte de Sayd by the King of Naples, and Patrizio Roma. [Wikipedia]; [Youtube by The Islamic Warriors]; married 1499 Roma to Nobile Maria Concetta Doria, (died in Naples 1542), with issue., Pierre Mehmed's early days was in Egypt, with his parents and sister, who later married to the Sultan of Egypt. They Eventually moved to Rhodes Island by the invitation of the Grand Master of the island then later to Rome by the early 1490's. Living with the Pope Alexander Borgia's family in Rome by invitation until the death of his father in 1495, then moved south to the Kingdom of Naples. An arranged marriage between the daughter of the Consul of Genoa and Pierre Mehmed, the Doria family are of a deeply rooted noble family. After their marriage, they continued to live in Rome and later settled in Naples and served as an Alternative Sultan with the backing of the Grand Master of Rhodes Island. This we know from the little information provided from the Grand Master himself. Dying in Rhodes Island while visiting the Grand Master and buried in the main Cathedral of the Capital. Today, the tomb is destroyed likely from when the Turks had invaded the island and defeated the Order of St John Nicolas Vatin, annexes 25 page 501, says: " the unfortunate was discovered with his wife, his daughters and his son, who was executed with him ... " Narrative brought back by the provéditeur of the Venetian fleet, Zuan Vituri, in a letter dated in Candied of February 11th, 1523: cf; Sanudo XXXIV, 52-69, and confirmed by the newspaper of Soliman the Magnificent. Graaf von Santa Sofia was created in 1776 by Prince William V of Orange to Agostino Formosa de Fremaux (Negroponte), Consul for Holland in Malta with remainder to his male descendants. The present titleholder is Conte Michael Formosa Gauci, 7th Graaf von Sant Sofia, 6th Marchese di Ghajn Qajjed and his brother, Conte Josef Formosa Gauci as heir.

Agostino Formosa de Fremaux, 1st "Comte/Graaf di Santa Sofia" [Cr. 1776 Holland/Orange by William V, Prince of Orange], Consul for Holland (later Batavia Republic) in Malta, Freemason in Malta, The Formosa de Fremaux family has long been associated with the title Conte di Santa Sofia. However, published sources do not indicate its origin except that it is said to be "French". There is no record nor any claim whatsoever of this title in the records of the 1878 Commission. This observation does not necessarily mean that the title Conte di Santa Sofia is invalid. In fact the Commissioners themselves stated on record that notwithstanding their efforts to ensure a comprehensive study of these titles, the Commissioners made a caveat that their report being based on a list of titles prepared by an ad hoc Committee of nobles formed on the occasion of a visit by the Prince of Wales, cannot be assured to "correspond to all the existing titles of nobility, and still less that the thirty one gentlemen "(mentioned in the list)" represent all those who, under certain conditions, would have the right of claiming a title by virtue of the same grant. On the contrary, as it will be hereafter remarked, many gentlemen not comprised in that list are exactly in the same condition as others therein mentioned. As no notice has appeared in the Government Gazette, informing the public of the existence of our Commission, and inviting all those who might have a right to a title of nobility to lay their claims before us, our inquiry must necessarily be incomplete, and limited to those titles which are included in the list, or which after its presentation have been claimed. On the other hand, we could not ascertain how far the committee are invested with a representative character, with regards to the interests of the Maltese nobility." On the other hand, however this caveat was later regarded as unnecessary by Governor van Straubenzee who stated that he had no reason to suspect that anyone having any pretension to be a "Titolato" was ignorant either of the existence of the Committee of Nobles, or of the appointment of the Commission. He also commented that the publication of a notice to the effect above stated would hardly be consistent with the instructions contained by the Despatch of the Secretary of State. At all events, he added, if there were more "Titolati" they were at liberty at any time to prove their claims, and take the precedence to which they are entitled. Conte di San Paolino d'Aquilejo was created in 1819 at Naples by King Ferdinand I of Two-Sicilies to Dr Carlo Antonio Bonavita JUD with the remainder to his descendants in order of primogeniture. By virtue of the Italian royal decree of 1916, where the right of female succession to all Italian titles was abolished and succession confined to agnatic descent. The present titleholder is Nobile Charles Vella Bonavita, 7th Conte di San Paolino d'Aquilejo and his cousin Nobile Dr Roger Vella Bonavita, Ph.D is heir.

Dr Carlo Antonio Bonavita, JUD. 1st Count of San Paolino d'Aquilejo, (Cr:1819 by Two Sicilies). There is no record nor any claim whatsoever of the 1819 title of Conte di San Paolino d'Aquilejo in the records of the 1878 Commission. This is because the date of creation of this title is not before the annexation of Malta to the British Dominions. It should be remembered that the purpose of that report (as the report reads) was to identify those titles which were granted or recognized by the sovereign authorities of Malta during the Government of the Knights of Saint John. Some may argue that this title is not one of those titles "recognised by the British Monarch". That argument is flawed because the purpose of the 1878 Commission was not to 'recognize' but to 'identify' those titles which had already been granted or recognized during the Government of the Order (1530-1798). This is better explained by the terms of reference to the Commissioners that 'the Secretary of State for the colonies decided that the heads of the families who, before the annexation of Malta to the British Dominions, obtained titles of nobility, should in accordance with a precedent during the administration of the late Governor, Sir Henry K. Storks, have precedence of the Chamber of Commerce, and in order to ascertain (etc)'. In this case, the title of Conte di San Paolino d'Aquilejo is simply not one of those titles that was obtained during the Government of the Order and does not in any way diminish its validity. See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.): see letter of Chief Secretary to Government to Commissioners dated March 8, 1877 (page 52). In addition, had this family enjoyed a title during the Government in Malta of the Order, and even if no claim whatsoever was made during the 1878 Commission, they would still in the words of Governor Straubanzee be able to enjoy precedence:- 'At all events if there are more 'Titoli' they are at liberty at any time to prove their claims, and take the precedence to which they are entitled'. See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.): see letter of Governor to Earl of Carnarvon dated December, 29 1877 (page 3)., married 1810 to Elisabeth Carbott Testaferrata dei Baroni della Grua, with issue.

The Marchese Scicluna was created three times. Firstly in 1875 by Pope Pius IX to Emmanuele Scicluna for life. Then in 1878 by Pope Leo XIII to Emmanuele Scicluna and Giuseppe Scicluna Bugeja with the remainder to Singular to all his descendants in the male primogenial line born in lawful wedlock and not seperated from the Catholic religion. The Third creation in 1879 by Pope Leo XIII to Emmanuele Scicluna with remainder to Leone XIII con decreto del 20 gennaio 1879, conferiva il titolo di marchese del S.R.I. ad Emmanuele Scicluna di Valletta, e costui, morto senza figli, ne succedeva, come pel menzionato decreto, il fratello Giambattista, oggi morto; d'onde, il titolo si e' trasferito in persona dell' egregio patriotta Giuseppe Scicluna Buggeja. The second and third creation continued to succeeded within the family, till the male to male line became extinct in 1995. The Second creation has been extended for the present titleholder to use. Nobile Marcus Scicluna Marshall, 4th Marchese Scicluna, Baroncino di Tabria.

Therefore there can be no reference to those titles in the 1878 report. The blazon of the arms of Giuseppe Scicluna Bugeja is described as in Fess consisting of (1) Gules a Leopard rampant Or and in chief a Crescent Or and (2) Azure three bars Or having as motto 'Nobile Virtutis Meritum'; A document recording this is referred to in "Sguardo di Corografia, Storia ed Araldica D'Italia" by Prof. Federico Gravina, 1906 Caltagirone, Tipografia G. Scuto: 1906 edition (Anno XXXI Fascicolo I & II) described as follows:- "Arma: Spaccato, nel 1o di rosso al leopardo rampante d'oro, sormontato a destra da un crescente d'argento; nel 2o d'azzurro, a tre sbarre d'oro. Cimiero: Un nastro col motto: Nobile Virtutis Meritum (Doc.)" This blazon is different to that described by Gauci (1981 and 1992) which says "Gu on a rock Proper a horse rampant Arg charged with five ermine spots and in chief between a descrescent and an increscent a Maltese cross all of the Second." The original leopard probably explains the ermine on a horse.) title of Marchese Scicluna of the Holy Roman Empire (1879) married 1901 St Peter's Basilica, Rome to Corinne Abela Pulis, OBE, \(1881-1919\), with issue.

1.1.1.1. Joseph Scicluna, 3rd Marquis Scicluna, 4th Marquis Scicluna of the Holy Roman Empire, Duque de Scicluna, Baron of Tabria (renounced), died on the 6th of September 1995 in Rome. dunn. According to Gauci (1986 and 1992) the title of Baron of Tabria was in 1983 'brought out of abeyance' in favour of Joseph Scicluna, who in turn passed the title by means of a deed made in the acts of Notary Jeanette Laferla Saliba of the 14 January 1985 on to a kinswoman Lilianina Bugeja nee Falzon Sant Manduca ('by a transfer inter vivos, and ratification') and that this transaction was 'ratified' by the Committee of Privileges 25th July 1985. According to Maltese media reports, Bugeja died, also without having made a nomination, and the title was 'awarded' to the Sciclunas' sister Corinne Ramsay. Some court cases were instigated both by Bugeja's son Philip as well as Ramsay and her daughter Christianne. During the court cases it resulted that Joseph Scicluna had also made a will in favour of Lilianina Bugeja. However, in each case the Maltese Courts declared themselves to have no jurisdiction to hear such matters because Malta had legislated in 1975 (Act XXIX of 1975) against recognition of nobiliary titles in any form whatsoever. In "The Scicluna Saga 1772-2008" John Micallef, (Farsons Foundation 2008) page 16 describes the Marchese Joseph Scicluna as a Duke: 'Marquis Jose' Juan Duque de Scicluna'

The Conte Tagliaferro was created in 1892 by Pope Leo XIII to Chevalier Girolamo Tagliaferro with the remainder to Singularly to all his descendants in the male primogenial line born in lawful wedlock and not seperated from the catholic religion. The present titleholder is Conte Simon Sant Fournier, 6th Conte

Tagliaferro and his son, Conte Gregory Sant Fournier, as heir.

Sig. Biagio Tagliaferro, 1810 created Knight Commander of the Order of St George of Russia, (1777 in Genoa-1862 Malta) Settled in Malta about 1819 (Note: Has travelled to Russia to enter into the Maltese Order of St John and become a Hereditary Knight or Baron. Seems that an extension of his brother-in-law's title to his sister's descendants could have been made for his male-to-male descendants), married Firstly 1809 at the Republic of Genoa to Giovanna de Scivoli, Married Secondly in 1848 to Teresa Pangavechia (Dau of Lorenzo and Teodora Bonello), with issue.

1. (First Marriage) Girolamo Tagliaferro, Created (15 April 1892) Conte by Pope Leo XIII. The 1887 title of Conte Tagliaferro was obviously granted after the conclusion of the 1878 Commission. Therefore there can be no reference to that title in the 1878 report. It should be remembered that the purpose of that report (as the report reads) was to identify those titles which were granted or recognized by the sovereign authorities of Malta during the Government of the Knights of Saint John. Some may argue that this title is not one of those titles "recognised by the British Monarch". That argument is flawed because the purpose of the 1878 Commission was not to "recognize" but to "identify" those titles which had already been granted or recognized during the Government of the Order (1530-1798). This is better explained by the terms of reference to the Commissioners that the Secretary of State for the colonies decided that the heads of the families who, before the annexation of Malta to the British Dominions, obtained titles of nobility, should in accordance with a precedent during the administration of the late Governor, Sir Henry K. Storks, have precedence of the Chamber of Commerce, and in order to ascertain (etc). In this case, the title of Conte Tagliaferro is simply not one of those titles that were obtained during the Government of the Order. See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.); see letter of Chief Secretary to Government to Commissioners dated March 8, 1877 (page 52) born 1812, married 1848 Valletta to Marianna Borg, with issue.

(See genealogy above).

The Emirates of Sicily and Malta pretender was last with Aloisio Giordan, dying in 1846. The Pretendership remains in abeyance.

Jafar VIII, (1195-1248), Last Emir of Malta, (r. 1233-40), Jafar was born in 1195 at the begining of his father's reign in Mdina. His mother was a member of the Sicilian freshly established nobility by the Normans and the closeness of both the Royal family and the nobility in Sicily with the Emir's rule in Malta was respectful as long as all tributes, taxes and laws were abide by. The population in Malta was at least 80% muslim faith and as Emir from 1233 was to ensure the island was producing stock and making an income for all to be able to survive especially in the drought seasons. When Jafar succeeded his father in 1233, his first job was to head to Palermo and pay tribute to Emperor Friederick I, King of Sicily's representatives. The Mutual agreements by both parties were satisfactory to a point where Malta was virtually left alone as long as taxes were paid. Jafar had also a Hakim in Malta and in Gozo to ensure that the citizens were kept under law and order. The Sicilian government also had its representatives in Malta and also being a fiefdom, the income made by Malta was given to the fiefdom owner. The Emir had a small share and both Hakims received an income. Jafar had married a daughter of a Byzantine Emperor when he was in the Byzantine empire with members of the Sicilian nobility and brough Euphrosyne back to Malta and sired several children.

In the short reign of Jafar trouble was brewing from the fiefdom owner regarding taxes and lack of stock producing, hence the drought periods Malta was experiencing. Meetings with the Sicilian represntatives and Palermo regarding Jafar handling and looking at ending his rule as Emir, giving the fiefdom holder greater power and control of Malta. So in 1240, without any blood shed, Jafar abdicated and left to live in Mdina as a citizen of Malta, dying in 1248. The family members continued to be elected as Hakims in Malta and Gozo till 1356 when only Christians were elected thereafter. Married to Princess Euphrosyne Angelos, with issue.
