We do not base our opinions on the very select organisations, published materials in Malta. We are an independent group that sources our information based on each individual nobility or distinctions and their original letters patent. Further-more with recognised authorities till 1974 and their acknowledgements. Thereafter, we have found some renewed cases were not based on the Nobility title initial intentions.

1 - Maltese fiefdoms:

The Barony of Djar il-Bniel e Buqana was created several times. Initially 1350 in Messina, Sicily by King Ludovico of Sicily and Malta to Milite Cicco (Francesco) Gatto, Capitano della Verga of Malta and Castellano of Malta to his descendants by Feudal tenure in perpetuity. Acknowledged by the British Royal Commission in 1878 and presently held by two claimants: Further note, the title was regranted again in 1432 in Messina by King Alfonso I of Sicily and Malta. The Barony of Buqana was created in 1377 by King Frederick III of Sicily and Malta to Milite Guglielmo Murina, Capitano della Verga, his grand daughter and 3rd Baroness, married Francesco Gatto and Francesco was regranted the Barony in 1397.

1. Marchese Francesco Apap Bologna d'Amico Inguanez, succeeded his father in 2021 as the 24th Barone di Djar il-Bniel e Buqana, the senior title holder of Malta. His father was acknowledged by the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese Nobility. The heir is his brother, Marchese James Apap Bologna as the Baroncino di Djar il-Bniel e Buqana.
2. The Claimant is the most senior descendant of Marc'Antonio Inguanez, 14th Barone di Djar il-Bniel e Buqana, as the illegitimate branch through his father the 13th Barone. The Present holder is Principe Giuseppe Said, as the 23rd De jure Barone di Djar il-Bniel e Buqana. His heir is Conte Charles Said-Vassallo.

The Barony of Ghariexem e Tabia was created several times in 1416 to Milite Stefano de Blundo and confiscated; 1416 again to the Inguanez family whom held the Barony till 1555 and sold it to the Knights of St John of Malta, who regranted it in 1638 at Mdina to Milite Gio Maria Cassia with remainder to his descendants by feudal tenure in perpetuity. It obtained British Royal Commission acknowledgement in 1878.

The Present holder is Conte John Sant Cassia, 13th Barone di Ghariexem e Tabia. His heir is his sister, Contessa Chiara Sant Cassia Damant and her son, Myles Damant is her heir.

The Barony of Gomerino was created six times. In 1317 to Guglielmo Surdo, and sold in 1318 to his father in-law. 1318, Guglielmo di Ragusa and it was sold to his grand daughter's husband for life in 1320, then reverted back to the di Ragusa family. Sold to the Santa Sofia family in 1398 and four Barone used the title till it was sold in 1481 to Johannes de Perollo. It remain in the family till 1560, when it was sold to the Knights of St John of Malta. In 1710, the Grand Master of Malta created the fief jointly to Nobile Paolo Testaferrata and his wife, Nobile Beatrice Cassia Testaferrata, 9th Baronessa di Castel Cicciiano. The title was succeeded by the eldest son, then by an act of nomination granted it to his brother, over his daughter, whom succeeded the Italian Barony of Castel Cicciiano (see title). The Testaferrata held the title to the present time, with one act of nomination granted it to a junior descendant rather the most senior descendant.

1. The Present holder of the title is Nobile Myrian Callus Testaferrata Abela, 11th Baroness of Gomerino, acknowledged by the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility. The Heir is her only child, Elizabeth Chemel Manche Testaferrata Abela, Baronessina di Gomerino.
2. The Claimant, is the most senior descendant in the male line of the 1st joint holders of the title in 1710. Nobile Christopher Testaferrata Moroni Viani, 11th De jure Barone di Gomerino and his heirs is one of his children.

The Barony of Budaq was created four times. The first creation was in 1398 to Johannes d'Aulesa and the title was revoked and Johannes was executed. The Second created was in 1644 at Valletta to Dr Niccolo Cilia MD and with remainder to his descendants by feudal tenure in perpetuity. The title became extinct in 1646.

The title was recreated in 1646 in Valletta to Cesare Passalacqua, Genovefa Passalacqua and Silvestro Fiteni, equally, and both the Passalacqua died without issue. Silvestro has illegitimate issue, and the claimants survived till 1716. In the meantime, the Grand Master regranted the title in 1716 to Dr Gio Pio de Piro JUD with remainder of "to his descendants in perpetuity, each holder of the title having the right to nominate a successor. In default of nomination to the first-born male descendant and in absence of male issue, to the first-born female issue. Members of the clergy are excluded by succeeded to the Primogeniture.

The present holder is Don Nicholas de Piro d'Amico Inguanez, 9th Barone di Budaq and one of his three sons or daughter are heirs.

The Barony of San Marciano was originally created in 1398 to Milite Salvo Cadumi and was succeeded for a number of generations till it was sold in 1620 to the Knights of St John of Malta. In 1726, the Grand Master of Malta recreated the fiefdom of San Marciano to Dr Diego Antonio Galea Feriol JUD with the following remainder, "Tibi Nobili Didaco Antonio Galea Feriol et post tui obitum, uni ex filiis vel filiabus legitimis et naturalibus ex te legitime proeatis vel proceandis, quem vel quam omni future tempore et in perpetuum. Tu et quilibet ex tuis legitimis successoribus in dicta baronia constitutes seu respective constituta, malueritis eligendum vel eligendam. Et in Casu tui vel tuorum in infinitum decessus, absque ulla nomination vel electione successoris in dicto titulo, ex nunc censeatur nominates et electus primogenitus nisi erit ad sacros ordines promotes, aut in religione professus, et in defectu marium, foemina primogenita. Presently there is one titleholder and the most senior male descendant to this barony.

1. Nobile Gino Trapani Galea Feriol, 11th Barone di San Marciano, and his eldest son, heir Nobile Michael Trapani Galea Feriol or one of his children.
2. The Claimant as senior Male descendant presently is Nobile James Galea Testaferrata and his son, Nobile Paul Galea Testaferrata.

The Barony of Tabria was created five times in the history of this fiefdom. First it was created in 1315 to Artaldo de la Barba, the reverted in 1407 and returned back in 1410. The descendants styled the fiefdom till 1647 when it was sold to the Knights of St John of Malta. The second time it was created in 1407 to Milite Francesco Gatto, then reverted back to the crown in 1408. 1408 it was granted to Nobile Matteo del Carretto dei Marchesi di Savona, Baron di Rahalbuto, then reverted back to the Crown in 1410. In 1453 it was granted to Don Giovanni Landolina and held in the family till 1594, when the fiefdom was sold to the Knights of St John of Malta. The final time, in 1728, the Grand Master granted the fiefdom to Isidore Viani with the remainder of “Nobili Isidoro Viani et post tui obitum uni ex filiis vel filiabus legitimis et naturalibus ex te legitime procreatis vel procreandis, quem vel quam omni futuro constitutus seu respective constituta, malueritis eligendum vel eligendam. Et in casu tui vel tuorum in infinitu decessus absque ulla nominatione vel electione successoris in dicto titulo, ex nunc censeatur nominatus et electus primogenitus, nisi erit ad sacros ordines promotus et in religione professus, et in defectu marium, foemina primogenita...” . The title has a history of four claimants. As the title can be nominated to a successor, it was granted several times.

1. Present Titleholder is Nobile Justine Corinne Melita Pergola, 14th Baroness of Tabria. Her first cousin, once removed, is heir.
2. Claimant 1 is through a nomination granted and accepted by the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility from Marchese Joseph Scicluna, 4th Marchese Scicluna and 10th Baron of Tabria to Nobile Lilianina Falzon Sant Manduca Bugeja, a descendant of the 4th Barone of Tabria. This claimant is the son, Marchese Philip Bugeja Viani dei Marchesi di Taflia, De jure 12th Baron of Tabria. His heir is his brother, Marchese Julian Bugeja Viani dei Marchesi di Taflia.
3. Claimant 2 is the most senior male descendant of the 6th Baron of Tabria. The claimant is Nobile Christopher Testaferrata Moroni Viani, De jure 10th Baron of Tabria and his heirs, is one of his children.

The Barony of Qlejja was first created in 1569 to Dr Francesco Mego JUD, Barone di Castel Cicciano of Naples and then to his son, Gio Antonio Mego, who died in 1580. The the remainder was to his descendants by feudal tenure in perpetuity and the first titleholder had other children, so the first titleholder's daughter succeeded by De jure and her descendants styled till 1721 with Gio Giacomo Desclaus. The second creation was granted in 1737 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Ignazio Bonnici JUD with the remainder exactly the same as the Barony of Tabria. The Present titleholder is Marchesa Agnese Testaferrata Bonici Ghaxaq Gera de Petri, 8th Baroness of Qlejja or Qlejjgha. One of her three children is heir.

The Barony of Benwarrad was first created in 1475 to Don Pietro de Nava and his son sold the fiefdom in 1535. The fief was recreated in 1737 by the Grand Master of Malta to Nobile Saverio Gatto and presently held by Dr Michael Kitson Attard Montalto, 9th Baron of Benwarrad. His heir is his eldest son, Paul Kitson as the Baroncino.

The Conte della Bahria fiefdom was only ever recorded granted in 1743 to Nobile Ignazio Moscati Falzoni Navarra with the remainder of “The terms of the diploma differ from those of the other titles granted by the Grand Masters. In fact, the title of Conte della Bahria was annexed to the lands of the same name, situated in Malta, and which were erected by the said patent into a noble feud. Moreover, the title is inheritable not only by one of the grantee’s descendants, but by his sons and successors, whether relations or strangers, and it is annexed to the possession of those lands. The following is an extract from the diploma: Te Dnum Ignantium Muscati Falsone Navarra tuosque filios, haeredes, et successores etiam extraneos, comitem et comites Territorii seu Tenutae della Bahria positae in hac Nostra Insula a Te et antecessoribus tuis jure pleni dominii et proprietatis possessae constitumus et in perpetuum creamus, dictamque tenutam seu territorum, illusque membra et districtum in feudum nobilem sub titulo comitis erigimus atque extollimus. Tuosque filios, haeredes, et successores etiam extraneos, comitem et comites Territorii seu Tenutae della Bahria positae in hac Nostra Insula a Te et antecessoribus tuis jure pleni dominii et proprietatis possessae constitumus et in perpetuum creamus, dictamque tenutam seu territorum, illusque membra et districtum in feudum nobilem sub titulo comitis erigimus atque extollimus.” The first title holder eldest daughter married to a Sicilian Conte di Casandola and continued together, both titles till the Earthquake of Messina in 1913, killing the entire family. The successor were from the female descendant, Palermo Navarra whom succeeded both titles till 1962. Confusion set in where the daughters of the 7th Count didn’t succeed in the Maltese titles, instead give to the 7th Count’s nephew through his sister, Gio Francesco Consoli, who succeeded by his son. The letters patent states very clearly that if the estate is to be sold, the title goes along with it too. In 2005 or sometime before, the estate of Bahria was sold off to a Company.

Presently the title of Bahria is Dormant with the last recognised titleholder, Salvatore Consoli recognised as the 9th Count of Bahria. No modern information is given if he is married or if his sister is married. Also, the four daughters of the late 7th Count of Bahria are senior heirs of the title by right and clearly should in name claim the title. Though when the Company who purchased the estate comes forward to claim the title, it is a total mayhem.

The Marchese Testaferrata (Olivier) is one of three acknowledgements created and recognised by the Grand Master of Malta. The title of Marchese was created in 1745 to Marchese Pandolfo Testaferrata de Noto with the remainder to Controversies arose between Mario’s descendants from his first and second marriages. It appears that the main dispute was his will opened 9 years after his death and published at Palermo by notary Dixidomino on the 16th April 1758, from which it appears that the said Mario willed as follows:- “in toto integro et indemnito patrimonio ac in dicto titulo Marchiones Sancti Vincentii nec non etiam in ejus Palatio, etc’ ejus haeredem universalem instituit, ac proprio ore nominavit et nominat D. Gilbertum Testaferrata ejus filium”. In the same testament, we find also the following clause: “Et quia dictus illustris testator ultra dictos Dominum Gilbertum et D. Pulchram, ejus filios desuper contemplatos, alium ejus filium primi matrimonii vocatum D. Enricum Testaferrata”. Et pro nonnullis ingratitudinibus disobedientiae, ac pro dubio insidiationis mortis ejusdem testatoris, ut ipse illustris asserit, etiam pro causa dissipationis nonnullorum bonorum mobilium vigore praesentis, attentis juribus et rationibus desuper descriptis, dictus illus testator eumdem D. Henricum Testaferrata "dishaereditavit, a substantia et patrimonio paterno privando et totaliter eumdem D. Henricum Testaferrata ejus filium tam a successione titolorum Marchionis Sancti Vincentii Ferreri et Testaferrata, quam a succession" ..et sic voluit et non aliter nec alio modo, et hoc non obstante quod fuissest per eundem illum testatorem facta wquaedam scriptura private, subscripta propria manu dicti illmi testatoris, in qua declarabat dictum D. Henricum ejus filium, successorem in Marchionem Sancti Vincentii Ferreri.". The present titleholder is Marchese Mark Thomas Olivier, 9th Marquis Testaferrata Olivier. His cousin, Marchese Jean Paul is heir as Marchesino.

The Counts della Catena was created in 1745 by the Grand Master of Malta to Nobile Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna with the remainder to "Unlike the great majority of titles conferred by the Grand Masters, the title of Conte delle Catene, or delli Mori conferred by Grand Master Pinto, by a patent of the 20th January 1745, upon Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna was specifically conferred so as to further enhance a property already held in entail by the grantee. This title was granted on the 20th January 1745, upon Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna and his sons, born and to be born, as well as on his heirs and successors, whether relations or strangers. The entail referred to in the relative grant was the agnatial entail founded by Don Alessandro Perdicomati Bologna with a faculty to nominate amongst the male descendants. The following is an extract from the deed of grant:- "Te supradictum Dominum Petrum Cajetanum Perdicomati Bologna tuosque filios jam natos vel nascituros, haeredes et successores primogenitos et etiam extraneos, Comitem et Comites Territorii seu Tenutae delle Catene hodie vero delli Mori appellati, positi in hac Nostra Insula a te et antecesoribus possessi jure pleni dominii et proprietatis, nec non Primogenitura masculinae ordinatae per bon mem canonicum Don Alessandro Perdicomati Bologna.....in feudum nobilem sub titulo comitis erigimus atque extollimus.". The entail is described in the footnote below was subject of court litigation. It is to be especially remarked that the terms of ennoblement extend to Perdicomati's sons, as well as on his heirs and successors, whether relations or strangers and that this title follows the tenure of the territory known as Catene. That is to say, unlike other titles which provide for a remainder in favour of descendants of the relative grantee, succession to this title is to be reckoned according to the possessor of the land who must be a male. This effectively means that the title may be succeeded to by strangers in blood of Pietro Gaetano Perdicomati Bologna. Moreover, the Report observes that the remainder of the above extract favours not only the one of the grantee's descendants, but the grantee's sons (born and to be born) heirs, AND successors (tuosque filios jam natos vel nascituros, haeredes et successores primogenitos et etiam extraneos), meaning that grant may allow to a plurality of claims being founded on the grant dated 1745. This view appears to be reinforced by the grant's use of the term comitem et comites. See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 35-36). On the other hand, the entail referred to above was an indivisible primogenitura and that ulterior succession was to be limited according to a primogenitura favouring males. Therefore although the grant envisages the possibility of a plurality of sons of the grantee, the remainder is effectively restricted only by reason of the indivisible nature of the entail restricted in favour of males. The present title holder is Henry Charles Hornyold Strickland dei Marchesi Gandolfi, 8th Count and one of his two sons as heirs. There was a claimant in the early 20th century, particularly with the estate of Bologna, the Marquis of Gien is-Sultan claim the estates and title being more senior to Sir Gerald Strickland GCMG. Though the High Court ruled in favour of Sir Gerald Strickland.

The Marquis Testaferrata (Cassar Desain) was initially created in 1749 to Marchese Gilberto Testaferrata Castelletti with the remainder to "Che, dall'altro canto, pero' e' giusto rimarcare che nella transazione seguita per atti del Notaro Vittorio Giammalvadel 10 settembre 1773 (recte 1772) tra i figli di Don Mario Testaferrata, il primo concessionario del titolo, di cui e' questione, dopo di avere menzionato solo due titoli di Nobiltà' quello cioè di San Vincenzo Ferreri, e l' altro di Testaferrata (allegando a quello conceduto da Vittorio Amadeo) era stato convenuto che tutti i figli con loro discendenti dovessero essere in libertà' di portare l' una e l' altra concessione. (Judgment No. 71/1887 of H.M. Court of Appeal dated 8 January 1887) ". The name of the title changed to succeeded to the Primogeniture of Cassar Desain in the 19th century. The present titleholder is Marchese Mark Cassar de Sain and his son, Heir is Marchese Max Cassar de Sain.

The Barons of Buleben was created in 1777 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Gaetano Azzopardi MD with the remainder of "The 1777 grant like the title of Marchese di San Giorgio only to be enjoyed by the original grantee. The first Barone Gaetano who was clearly aware of the limited terms of the 1777 grant later presented a petition (in Italian) to the Grand Master, representing that "Whereas in the deed of grant of the title of 'Barone di Buleben' most benignly made to him, your Most Serene Highness had been pleased to order that on that occurrence the diploma should be issued from the cancelleria in favour of himself alone....And whereas in his family there existed a primogenitura erected in favour such among his children as he would name, and in default of nomination, in favour of his eldest son, and descendible to the first born males by the law of primogeniture (di primogenito in altro) until the total extinction of his male line, with power to each holder of it to name his successor; and whereas the income of that Primogenitura was more than sufficient for the decent support of its possessor, he (petitioner) begged that the grant of the title of 'Barone di Buleben' should be extended to such of his sons and male descendants as might for the time being be the holder of the Primogenitura". On this application the Grand Master endorsed the following rescript: "Magister Hospitalis Hyerusalem Gratiam petitam Oratori concedimus pro ejus filio successore in Primogenitura de qua in precibus, tantum. Datum in Palatio, die 25 Aprilis 1778". See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033).

The first born son of Gaetano, Calcedonio Azzopardi, senior, after his father's death presented a petition to the Grand Master, requesting the investiture of the baronial title, submitting that the title had been granted to such of the grantee's sons as might be in possession of the Primogenitura, and producing an extract from an instrument from which it appeared that he had been named by his father to succeed to that Primogenitura. On this petition a decree was made on the 5th July 1788, and the formula of the oath for the investiture had already been partly drawn up, but it was afterwards, together with the petition, the decree, and the document, therein inserted, cancelled, as appears from the original records in the Cancelleria. The investiture was subsequently given to Barone Calcedonio, as may be seen from another authentic document in the Government Archives, bearing date the 10th August 1788; it begins thus: - 'Notum sit quod cum alias titulum Baronis feudi de Buleben, sub die 28 mensis Julii 1777, nobilis Cajetano Azzopardi pro ejus persona tantum concesserimus, quodque pariter, vigore nostri Magistralis Rescripti sub die 25 Aprilis 1778, editi, titulum hujusmodi etiam ad ejus filium Primogenitaram habentem ampliaverimus, prout in hujusmodi concessionis diplomate et Rescripto, ad quae habeatur ratio plenius continetur....." The present titleholder is the youngerson of the 9th Baron, Don Joseph Bernard Manduca Piscopo Macedonio Azzopardi, who is also Heir to the Count of Montalto title and his only son is heir to the Barony of Buleben.

The Counts of Beberrua was created in 1783 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Luigi Maria Gatto JUD. With the remainder of "Tibi tantum, concedimus, et fidelitate nostra donamus, ac te Comitis hujusmodi tituolo decoramus et insignimus nec non ita nominari posse et debere". The title of Conte di Beberrua was granted on the 23rd October 1783 by Grand Master Rohan to Luigi (Ludovico) Gatt, in the following terms: - Tibi tribuimus, concedimus, et fidelitate nostra donamus, ac te Comitis hujusmodi tituolo decoramus et insignimus nec non ita nominari posse et debere. The terms of the grant are similar to those of the patents of the Barone di Buleben and the Marchese di San Giorgio in the sense that none of these original grants contain any provision for succession after the grantee. Such grants were by the Grand Master himself taken to be personal, and as such, they could only be extended on an application of the grantees themselves. According the 1878 Commissioner. Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (

Nicolo was born much later after the 1783 grant. In fact, Nicolo was born of the grantee's second marriage, the grantee having remarried in 1795. Apart from the reasons explained in the Commissioner's report, it is therefore unlikely that in 1783 the Grand Master ever contemplated the possibility that Ludovico was going to have any issue at all.

The claimant Dr. Nicolo Gatt pursued his claim to the title which was granted to his father, and in 1883, a Committee of five Titolati (namely Ciantar, Apap Bologna, De Piro, Manduca and Delicata) recommended to the British Secretary of State for the Colonies that Our opinion is that the title at the death of the grantee vested in Conte Nicolo Gatt LL.D., the only surviving son of the person first ennobled, and that it should continue to descend, de primogenito in primogenitum in infinitum, to the male descendants of the grantee. Under these circumstances we consider this title fully deserving the grace and favour of recognition from the Crown, that the bearer may have his name duly entered in the official list of Titolati. This recommendation was accepted by the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Thus the adjusted succession as per the 1883 decision of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, allows Nicolo (or Nicola) Gatt to succeed Ludovico Gatt as the 2nd Count of Beberrua.

The title has a history of breaking the letter patent remainder with the acknowledgement of the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility ruling after the sixth Count passing succeeding of his sister in 1941. Then after the 7th Countess's passing, succession to her niece, the Marchesa Maria Teresa Apap Bologna Caruana Deguara and presently held by her son, Paul Deguara Caruana Gatto, as the 9th Count and his brother as heir.

The most senior male heir claimant is through the Caruana Gatto and presently held by Godfrey Caruana Gatto as the De jure 9th Count and his grandson as heir.

The Marquises of St George (di San Giorgio) was created three times. Initially in 1778 to Dr Carl Antonio Barbaro JUD for life, then in 1779 to his son and in 1792, his son received an extension to his heirs male. It is important to show the remainder of the 1792 letter patent to ensure creditability and no confusion.

"According to the 1878 Report, Gioacchino Ermolao Barbaro applied to the Grand Master for the extension of the title granted in 1778 and extended in 1779, to all of his descendants in perpetuum. His application was complied with by a rescript of the 5th June 1792. There is clearly no remainder regulating ulterior transmission by the rules of primogeniture. Instead, the remainder (made on a rescript) is very wide and extends to all of Gioacchino Barbaro's descendants. In the other parts of the afore-said Commissioner's Report, this conclusion is very clear. In fact the Report at paragraphs 41 to 57 says Thus the Marchese Barbaro had requested and obtained that the title should be extended to at least his first born son, who subsequently applied for and obtained a further extension for all his descendants in perpetuum (#59, 60). The Marchese Mallia Tabone had likewise prayed that his title should be made to extend after his death to his male descendants successively, and in default of male issue to his female descendants, and had obtained from the Grand Master an extension in favour of his first born male descendants only (#68). Similarly, the same Report at paragraphs 62-66 says The terms of the grant are similar to those of the preceding patents granted to Barone Azzopardi and to Marchese Barbaro, containing no provision for the descent of the title to sons, heirs, descendants, and successors of the grantee. The two preceding grants, as we have already remarked, were by the same Grand Master taken to be personal, and as such, they were extended on an application of the grantees themselves, either to their first-born son exclusively, or as in the instance of Marchese Barbaro, to all their descendants for ever. See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) In view of this, it follows that there is a plurality of Marchesi di San Giorgio, that is to say more than one person enjoying the title at the same time! The question that remains is whether 'all descendants' here means exactly what it says or whether there are some principles of interpretation which moderate a wide interpretation, that is to say whether the title of Marchese di San Giorgio as extended in 1792 can in fact be transmitted to females descended from Carlo Antonio Barbaro, or to males claiming from Carlo Antonio Barbaro through a female line. The aforesaid 1878 report answers this question of interpretation where the Commissioners pointed out. The claimant lastly contends that the diploma and the rescript must be extensively construed; for although it is a legal maxim, Privilegia sunt stricte interpretanda, the privileges, however, granted by a sovereign authority, and which do not act to the prejudice of third parties, are susceptible of a wide and liberal interpretation. Although this is admitted by the common opinion of civilians, yet that principle holds good with regard to those privileges which are granted by the sovereign's mere motion (moto proprio) and not at the request of the party concerned (Jasonii Comment. Quoted by Altograd. Consilia Con. 71, No. 9, 10, 11, and by many other legal writers). Now as a general rule, patents of nobility in Malta were granted by the Grand Masters at the request of the grantee, and it was moreover upon an application by Barone Azzopardi that the rescript of 1778 was issued. It is likewise a settled opinion that, when the patent of creation does not contain the expression moto proprio, the grant is taken to have been made at the request of the party concerned. (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 41-57). There are many other arguments which militate against construing the 1792 rescript in favour of 'mere' females and/or 'mere' male descendants claiming through a female line. ”.

The male descendant titleholder should be Marchese James St James as the 8th Marquis of St George, and his brother as heir.

The Claimant through his mother, whom was the eldest daughter of the 6th Marchese of San Giorgio is presently the President of the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility, Dr Anthony Cremona Barbaro LLD as the 8th De jure Marquis of St George.

The Marquises of Fiddien was initially created in 1785 then extended in 1793 by the Grand Master of Malta to Salvatore Mallia Tabone. The Remainder to “The title of Marchese del Fiddien was conferred by Grand Master De Rohan upon Salvatore Mallia Tabone, by a patent of the 15th October 1785. The terms of the patent are identical with the original patents of Barone di Buleben, (Azzopardi), Marchese di San Giorgio, (Barbaro) and Conte di Beberrua (Gatt), in the sense that it contains no description of children or descendants, but only the name of the person ennobled. The patent granted to Mallia Tabone reads thus: Tibi donamus ac te Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 67-69). Consequently the grant of 1785, on its own, cannot be construed to benefit any of the grantee ”s descendants.

In regard to the title of Marchese del Fiddien, the 1878 Commissioners observed: This grant was also taken by the Grand Master to be personal to the grantee, for after the grant, the Marchese Salvatore presented a petition praying that, in consideration of the merits of his ancestors, the grant might be made to extend to his legitimate and natural male descendants successively, and in default of male issue to his female descendants: and by a rescript of the 15th June 1793, the request was only partly complied with, in the following terms: Fiat pro primogenitis maribus tantum. See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (Paras. 67-69). The direct male line dying with the 7th Marchese in 1973. The close relatives of the 7th Marchese were through his female relatives which sought three claimants and a distant relative of the Mallia family. The Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility had confirmed Salvatore Caruana Dingli to succeed as the 8th Marchese, whom dying later in 1983 without issue. With two nephews from both sisters laying claim. The younger sister's only son succeeded with the Committee of Privileges acceptance. Hence where the line exist presently. The titleholder acknowledged by the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility is Dr Michael Laferla LLD as the 10th Marchese di Fiddien and his son, Jan Laferla, as the Marchesino di Fiddien. Other claimants are as follows;

Claimant 1 is Nobile Jean Curmi, 9th De jure Marchese di Fiddien, the most senior descendants of his uncle, Salvatore Caruana Dingli, 8th Marchese of Fiddien and his heir, his son Matthew Curmi.

Claimant 2 is Dr Andrew Cremona as the 9th De jure Marchese di Fiddien as the most senior relative of the 7th Marchese di Fiddien. His heir is his son, Patrick Cremona, Marchesino di Fiddien.

Claimant 3 is the most senior male to male descendants of the Mallia Tabone family and presently being Nobile Jason Mallia as the 9th Marchese and his brother, Kristan Mallia as the Marchesino.

The Marchese della Taflia was created twice in 1783 and again in 1790. Firstly, in 1783 it was created to Dr Gio Battista Mompalao JUD, as the Marchese della Taflia, dying without legitimate issue in 1787. The second creation in 1790 to Dr Saverio Alessi JUD and the remainder to "The patent conferring the title of Marchese della Taflia was on the 13th November 1790, granted by Grand Master Rohan to the aforesaid Saverio Alessi. In this grant a singular circumstance is noticeable. The patent of creation bears that the title is inheritable by the grantee's descendants in the following terms: - Tibi Magnifico ac Nobili Xaverio Alessi tuisque legitimis descenditibus tribuimus, concedimus, et donamus, ac de Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus, nec non ita nominari pose ac debere. ; The grant does not state whether the title should be enjoyed by all the said descendants simultaneously, or by only one of them under the rule of primogeniture. See Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033)." So all descendants can style Marchese/a in the legitimate lineage.

The present titleholder is Marchesa Cheryl Sammut Testaferrata Alessi Runnacles. I am unsure if she has any children, and if not, her heir would be a descendant of the Marchese Carmelo Sammut Alessi.

The Counts of Ghajn Tuffieha / Conte di Ghajn Tuffieha

Tuffieha was created in 1792 to Dr Ferdinando Teuma Castelletti JUD with the remainder to “One of the leaders of the Maltese uprising against the French in 1798, The grant conferring the title of Conte of the feud magistrale (i.e. belonging to the Grand Master) of Ghain Toffieha was made by Grand Master Rohan to Ferdinando Teuma Castelletti to be held by the grantee and his issue. However, it is to be remarked that this grant was not made by a patent but by a rescript of the 7th January 1792, on the petition of the same Ferdinando, that is to say upon an application by Ferdinando Teuma Castelletti for that title and remainder. The wide terms of the rescript (with remainder to Ferdinando's issue) would at first sight imply that all of Ferdinando's descendants are entitled to the title. On the other hand, however, it must be remembered that the 1878 Commissioners noted that it is a settled rule that any interpretation of Magistral assent to a rescript must be restrictive whilst wide interpretations are only allowed in grants made motu proprio. This maxim is explained by the Commissioners elsewhere in their Report thus: The claimant lastly contends that the diploma and the rescript must be extensively construed; for although it is a legal maxim, Privilegia sunt stricte interpretanda, the privileges, however, granted by a sovereign authority, and which do not act to the prejudice of third parties, are susceptible of a wide and liberal interpretation. Although this is admitted by the common opinion of civilians, yet that principle holds good with regard to those privileges which are granted by the sovereign's mere motion (motu proprio) and not at the request of the party concerned (Jasonii Comment. Quoted by Altograd. Consilia Con. 71, No. 9, 10, 11, and by many other legal writers). Now as a general rule, patents of nobility in Malta were granted by the Grand Masters at the request of the grantee, and it was moreover upon an application by Barone Azzopardi that the rescript of 1778 was issued. It is likewise a settled opinion that, when the patent of creation does not contain the expression motu proprio, the grant is taken to have been made at the request of the party concerned. (See:- Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.) (See Report Paras. 41-57)”. So all male to male descendants can enjoy the style of Count and females for life only. Though the present titleholder is Contessa Mary Frances Teuma Castelletti McCutcheon, 6th Contessa di Ghajn Tuffieha and heir is the eldest granddaughter, as heiress and styles Continessina di Ghajn Tuffieha.

The Marchese's di Gnien is-Sultan was created in 1792 to Dr Filippo Apap JUD and with the remainder of “Praedictum Marchionis Pheudi Gnien Is-Sultan titulum... Tibi Magnifico Philippo Apap, tuisque descendantibus masculis legitimis et naturalibus ipsisque deficientibus, foemina majori natu, tribuimus, concedimus et donamus, ac te Marchionis hujusmodi titulo decoramus” So all male to male descendants can style Marchese/a. The present titleholder is Marchese Captain Philip Apap Bologna, 7th Marchese di Gnien is-Sultan and his son, Marchese Dr Richard Apap Bologna MD, as the Marchesino di Gnien is-Sultan.

The Barony of Grua was created in 1794 to Magnifico Saverio Carbott Testaferrata Ghaxaq JUD with the remainder to “Grand Master Rohan on the 30th December 1794, issued a diploma conferring the title of Barone della Grua upon the Magnifico Saverio Carbott Testaferrata, and his first-born sons and descendants, under the rule of primogeniture (de primogenitor in primogenito). The following is an extract from the patent of creation: Tibi tuisque filiis et descendantibus masculis de primogenito in primogenitum tribuimus et concedimus et te hujusmodi Baronis titulo decoramus.. That is to say the grant confers the title on the grantee and his male descendants, from firstborn to firstborn By 1878, the male-to-male descending line of the said Saverio was extinct, for Saverio Carbott left Giuseppe Carbott, second Barone, of whom Saverio Carbott Montalto, junior, was born. Saverio Carbott, junior, had no male issue, but only a daughter Giovanna Carbott Montalto, wife of Dr. Giuseppe Delicata, of whom Nicola Maria Delicata was born (see below). See: Correspondence and Report of the Commission appointed to enquire into the claims and grievances of the Maltese Nobility, May 1878, presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty (C.-2033.)". The present titleholder is Daniel Borg Carbott, 10th Barone di Grua and his son, Luke Borg Carbott as the Baroncino di Grua.

The Marchese di Ghajn Qajjed was created in 1796 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Gerolamo Delicata JUD with the remainder to "ac Nobili Hyeronimo Delicata, tuisque descendantibus primogenitis legitimis et naturalibus tribuimus concedimus, et donamus". The present titleholder is Michael Formosa Gauci as the 6th Marchese and his brother Josef Formosa Gauci, KM as heir with style of Marchesino di Ghajn Qajjed.

The Counts of Senia was created in 1795 by the Grand Master de Rohan Polduc to his natural son, Vincenzo Fontani Crespi with the remainder to "Nobili Pueri Vincentio Fontani Crespo, te tuosque descendentes comitem et comites territorii seu possessionis dictae ta Senia posita in hac nostra insula, in loco della Marsa, tuosque utriusque sexus filios et descendentes, comitem et comites praefati territorii sive possessionis ta Senia dicimus et nominamus. "te tuosque descendentes comitem et comites territorii seu possessionis dictae ta Senia posita in hac nostra insula, in loco della Marsa, tuosque utriusque sexus filios et descendentes, comitem et comites praefati territorii sive possessionis ta Senia dicimus et nominamus".

The title became dormant after the death of Marchese Roger Messina Fontani, 5th Conte di Senia in 1956. The title laid dormant till the late 20th century when a descendant in Malta claimed the title as the 6th Count. Marchese Joseph A. Bugeja Fontani, KM, dying in 2018. The most senior heir were in France and only in recent years have made it known their interest in the title and fiefdom. The present titleholder in the most senior descendant is Marchesa Marthe Monique Donnat Fontani Roulet, as the 8th De jure Contessa di Senia and her son, Patrice Roulet Fontani as the Contino di Senia.

2 - Foreign Maltese nobility acknowledged by the Grand Master of Malta.

The Italian Feudal Barone di Castel Cicciano first came to Malta by the purchase of the fief by the Rhodian Francesco Mego in 1560 in Naples, Italy and acknowledged by the Grand Master of Malta. In 1580 ("Donatio seu venditio") by Gio Antonio Mego of the Barony of Cicciano "ac mero ac mixto Imperio" unto Xerri in the acts of Notary Joseph Mamo of the 22 August 1580) a sale of the Fiefdom to Francesco Scerri as the 3rd Barone di Castel Cicciano. The title continued to be succeeded by the eldest child even excluding the Kingdom of Italy law of 1926 which had stopped female descendants inheriting nobility titles. Though in Malta it continued to succeed with the acceptance of the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility. The Present titleholder is Nobile Carole Anne Sceberras Trigona, as the 19th Baroness and her cousin is heir; Nobile Anne Marie Sceberras Trigona, as the Baroncincina di Castel Cicciano. Both are unable to represent the Italian fiefdom since the 1926 law of Nobility restricting to male heirs of all nobility titles. So the most senior male heir titleholder is also noted. Claimant as per Law of Nobility 1926 in the Kingdom of Italy is Dr Alexander Sceberras Trigona, LLD, MP.

Dritto di cinquecento e sessanta due mili, e cinquecento maravedi di Vellon; il quale dritto deve essere pagato da ciascun successore in questo titolo il quale per rescritto del G. Mro si trova registrato nel lib. Boll. Sottigli 8.8bre 1745, fo 167". Reference A.O.M. 627.

The creation documents are in the Archivio Historico Nacional in Madrid, Consejos Suprimidos book 2753, year 1742, no. 17, File 8978, year 1742 no. 820 and were despatched as per file Book 624, year 1742 and File State Section, file 6390(1), no. 86. The creation was published in the Gazeta de Madrid on 8 May 1742, pages 151-152.

As a title created within the kingdom of Castile, it was regulated by the Book of Laws compiled in the 13th century by king Alfonso X (Alfonso the Wise) as well as the Cortes de Toro (a law of 1505), the Novisima Recopilacion of 1805, the Royal Decree of 27th September 1820, the Law of 11th October 1820, the Law of 4th may 1948, as well as many other Royal Decrees in particular those of the 27th May 1912, 8th July 1922, 21st March 1980, 11th March 1988, 16th September 1994 and the Law of 30th October 2006. By means of the latest law, the conventional rules of orden regular were amended by abolishing discrimination on grounds of gender. The rule preferring age and descent by primogeniture was retained" The title was last registered in Malta by Don Anthony Buttigieg de Piro, who claimed it in 1984 as the 5th Marques de Piro, dying in 2020. No further claims in the Kingdom of Spain has been noted.

In Malta, the title continued with the expressed desire of acknowledgement from the Committee of Privileges of the Maltese nobility and presently held by Don Nicholas de Piro d'Amico Inguanez, as the 9th Marques. His eldest son, Don Cosimo is heir.

The Claimant heir as per Kingdom of Spain is Dona Victoria Jane Buttigieg de Piro Krejci. Note, all Spanish titles are now to all first born, not eldest male then to female issue. Note: Capt Buttigieg de Piro, passed away in 2024.

Also note that is a Spanish title lays in dormant for a period of time, it becomes extinct.

The Marquis di Castiglia (de Piro) was created in 1742 in Madrid by King Philip V of Spain to Dr Gio Pio de Piro JUD, 1st Barone di Budaq with expressed remainder to "Lo Stesso Barone Giovani Pio Depiro ottenne poi da Filippo Re di spagna un Titolo in Castiglia di Marchese per se e tutti li suoi eredi, e successori, avendo pagato il

The Barony of San Giovanni was first created in 1657 in Messina, Sicily by King Philip IV of Sicily and Spain to Dr Vincenzo Abela JUD. The remainder was to "o his legitimate and natural descendants simultaneously "jure longobardum" in perpetuity, 1926, Kingdom of Italy rule of succession changed to only male descendants of the family only". The title legitimately acknowledged by the Grand Master till 1746 where it became extinct. Though other descendants laid claim to the title till 1830 and since been dormant.

Another descendants of the first titleholder received a new creation in 1777 by the King Ferdinand I of Two Sicilies to Conte Giorgio Serafino Ciantar Paleologo with remainder to "to his legitimate and natural descendants simultaneously "jure longobardum" in perpetuity, 1926, Kingdom of Italy rule of succession changed to only male descendants of the family only". Though the Kingdom of Italy new law of 1926 announcing only male descendants to succeed all nobility titles or the title goes to next male descendant or if extinguished then extinct. The last titleholder was Francis Chapelle, 7th Barone di San Giovanni, dying in 2011. His kinsman, Kenneth Chapelle styles as the 8th de jure Barone di San Giovanni.

The Marchese di San Vincenzo Ferreri was created in 1716 in the Kingdom of Naples to Nobile Mario Testaferrata de Robertis, Patrizio Messina e Roma with the remainder to his legitimate and natural male descendants in perpetuity. 1926 Italian law by Royal Decree dictates succession by strict agnatic male descent. The direct line ended in 1988 with Marchese Alfio Testaferrata Bonici Ghaxaq, the 8th Marchese, then succeeded by his cousin, Marchese Joseph Philip Testaferrata Bonici, as the 9th Marchese. An heir would also be of the same male to male descendant, if any male-to-male descendants of Marchese Publio Testaferrata and his wife Regina Galizia.

The Conte Preziosi title was created in 1718 in the Kingdom of Sicily to Captiano Giuseppe Preziosi, a Knight of St Mark of Venice, a Privateer. The remainder to "his legitimate and natural male descendants in perpetuity. Some published sources list Gio Francesco Preziosi as the 2nd Conte (in terms of the ius feudale francorum). These sources appear to overlook the fact that Gio. Francesco had an elder brother. Thus the said Gio Francesco is only the 3rd Conte (in terms of the ius feudale francorum) or, more likely, one of the 2nd generation of Conti Preziosi in terms of the ius feudale longobardum." The present titleholder is Conte Dr Josef Preziosi MRCS, 10th Conte Preziosi and his eldest daughter as heir, Contessa Marie Christine Preziosi Bandini.

The Counts di San Giovanni Laterano (Conte Ciantar Paleologo) was created in 1711 by Pope Clement XI in 1711 at Rome to Nobile Ignazio Francesco Wizzini Paleologo, Patrizio Roma with the remainder to his descendants both male and female in perpetuity. The Present titleholder is Conte Jean Pierre Chapelle Paleologo, 10th Conte di San Giovanni Laterano, his heir is his eldest daughter, Contessa Annah Chapelle Paleologo, as the Continuressa di San Giovanni Laterano.

The Conte di Mont'Alto was created in 1720 and reconfirmed again in 1776. Initially it was created by Francis I Farnese, Reigning Duke of Parma in 1720 to Dr Bernardo Piscopo Macedonia JUD with the remainder to “The title of Conte di Mont Alto in the Duchy of Parma, was, together with the fief of Monte Alto, conferred at the grantee's request, by Francis I (Farnese), Duke of Parma, upon Bernardo Piscopo, by a Rescript given at Piacenza on the 8th July 1720.” The grantee did not have any (legitimate) issue, so he made another request to the Duke of Parma, in order that he be granted “the power of disposing of the fief in favour of Felice Manduca Piscopo, his grand-nephew, or of one of the brothers of the said Felice, and so in favour of such of them as Bernardo might designate his heir, and of his legitimate and natural male children and descendants from a real and lawful wedlock issuing in infinitum, according to the order of primogeniture, or in such any other manner as petitioner might prefer to dispose thereof, so that in case he should die without issue as aforesaid, the above-mentioned fief, with the title of Count, with its jurisdictions, power of the sword, and its merum and mixtum imperium ..should be vested in the aforesaid Manduca, or in such of his brothers as the petitioner might nominate to be his heir, in the same manner and form as if the latter were expressly included and designated in the said grant and investiture, and this (he requested) in order that in the family of his said grand-nephews, that is of such of them as might be his heir, the glorious token of a perpetual vassalage to the Most Serene dynasty of your Highness might always be preserved in its lustre”.

1724 and 1725, Bernardo nominated his eldest grandnephew, Felice Manduca Piscopo to succeed him, Felice, the 2nd Conte died in 1775, leaving no male issue. However, his brother, Salvatore Manduca Piscopo, petitioned Ferdinand I, Duke of Parma for permission to succeed the title. A rescript was issued granting this request on 1776. Since then, the title has descended through the male line according to primogeniture.” A kinsman of the 1st titleholder received a regrant (confirmation) to continue use of the title in 1776 by Ferdinand I, Reigning Duke of Parma to Nobile Salvatore Manduca Piscopo, Capitano della Verga of Malta and Hereditary Knight of the Holy Roman Empire.

The remainder to his male descendants by primogeniture. The Present titleholder is Don Alfred Manduca Piscopo Macedonia, 7th (9th) Conte di Mont'Alto and his brother as heir, Don Alfred Manduca Piscopo Macedonia Azopardi, Contino di Mont'Alto and Barone di Buleben.

The Graf (Conte) Fournier was created in 1770 by Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria, Archduchess of Tuscany to Giorgio Fournier, Freiherr von Pausier with the remainder to his male descendants in order of primogeniture. The direct line died out after the second Graf and succeeded by the eldest daughter with confirmation of the Grand Master and her descendants were reconfirmed by the royal commission in 1878. [The above stated circumstances lead us to conclude that no great importance was formerly attached by the Local Government to a proper use of the titles of nobility. In confirmation of this statement, we may mention that in several Government notices, the late Baldassare Sant was styled Count, to which title he had no right. His son and heir, Lazzaro Sant, does not claim but the titles of Conte and Barone Fournier de Pausier, which he inherited from his mother Luigia, wife of the said Baldassare, to whom they were not certainly communicable.

Title of Count in the kingdoms and provinces of the Austrian Empress (granted to Giorgio Fournier de Pausier on the 29 January 1770 by Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria); No decision was reached by the Commissioners in either their report or their supplemental report on the claim of Lazzaro Sant-Fournier-de-Pausier, who descends from the grantee's granddaughter. The British Secretary of State then permitted the claim of Lazzaro Sant Fournier and his successors, for the purpose of precedence, to take the place to which they would be entitled under the principles of legal interpretation applicable to the grant if it had emanated in 1770 from the Sicilian or Maltese Sovereign authority] In not so many words, the British Royal Commission in 1878 may have recreated a new nobility title of Earl de Fournier. The Present titleholder is Conte Stephen Sant Fournier, 9th Graf von Fournier, 9th Freiherr von Pausier, Hereditary Count Sant and possibility as the 6th Earl de Fournier in the UK. His heir is one of his two sons.

The Graf (Conte) Sant was initially created in 1769 and in 1770. The first creation was as Conte Palatine Sant by the Pope Clement XIV in 1769 to Salvatore Baldassare Sant with the remainder to le, Nayosq et Descendands tuof masculos, legitimate, e natural in infinite qui in surceritate catholicks fidei. The second creation was by Marie Theresa, Empress of Austria, Archduchess of Tuscany in 1770 to Conte Salvatore Baldassare Sant with the remainder to Addentes hanc gratiam specialem ut si aliquando stirpem masculinam familiae tuae extingui contingent, comitis titulis ed dignitas ad primogenitum ex ultima foemina generis tui superstite natum vel nasciturum, qui gentis tuae cognomen assumit, ejusque posteros modo antedicto, servatoque simper ordine primogeniali, transeat (All male descendants are styled Conte and females are to style Contessa, though the title can only be enjoyed in the male to male line). This title by both creations can be used by all descendants in the male-to-male lineage and females till marriage or life. The present titleholder is Conte John Sant Cassia, 8th Conte Palatine e Graf, also 13th Barone di Gharixem e Tabia. His heir is his nephew, Nobile Miles Damant Sant Cassia and the Conte Palatine title heir is his cousin, Conte Francis Sant Cassia.

After the 1st Barone died in 1760, his illegitimate daughter, Rosalea Mompalao never claimed the title, though always styled as Baronessa. His descendants continued to claim the title without ever obtaining authority recognition. The present titleholder is Nobile Mary Doris Vassallo Said, 11th Baronessa di Frigenuini and her heir is Conte Charles Said-Vassallo. The Third creation was in 1773 by the Grand Master of Malta to Dr Gaetano Pisani JUD and became extinct with his grand daughter, the Suor Maria Adeodata Pisani in 1855. Though there are illegitimate children and descendants of the 1st Barone Pisani, but unclaimed. Note: this title was never presented to the Royal Commission of the Maltese nobility in the late 19th century.

The Marchese's di Xrobb il-Għajin was created in 1776 by the Grand Master of Malta to Nobile Claudio Moscati Sciberras with the remainder to "Muscati Xiberras D. Claudio Maltese, ottenne il medo dal Gr. Mro l'erezione d'un Marchesato sopra il Territorio, o sia Tenuta ta' Sciop il Hagini posta in Malta, dallo stesso Muscat posseduta, e la concessione del titolo di dho Marchesato per se, e suoi discendenti Maschi in infinitum". The title was succeeded by his son, Diego, as 2nd Marchese, dying in 1818. His legitimate daughter dying without issue and his illegitimate daughter's eldest son succeeded as De jure 3rd Marchese di Xrobb il-Għajin. His descendant presently styles as the Marchese being Enrico Rosario Moscati de Pembroke, (1962, 15th Marchese. His son, Enrico Beniamino as heir, his heir general is Ronaldo.

The Principe di Comino was either created or acknowledged by the Grand Master Ferdinand von Hompesch zu Bolheim of Malta to his wife-let Nathalie Farrugia on the year of the Grand master's accession. Nathalie dying in 1821, succeeded by her priestly eldest son, then his brother, the Canon, then to his illegitimate son, Nicola in 1866. Nicola dying in 1883 in Tunisia. There are two sons born in Tunisia, though unknown if they had descendants. The title did not have any lands or the island of Comino attached to the title. It was a title given in similar rank to the partner, being the Grand Master of Malta.

4.- Maltese Titles in Dormant.

The Barons of Ginelfar, Misulup and Saqqajja was created in 1361 by King Federico III of Sicily and Malta with the remainder to his descendants by feudal tenure in perpetuity. The fiefdom continued till Nobile Giulio Attard as the 16th Barone around 1815. Cannot locate any descendants if any.

The Principe Ottomani title was created in essence of recognition to the child born to a Ottoman Prince Djem, who fled his brother. The son born was Prince Pierre Mehmed Ottomani, born 1492 at Rome and Pope Alexander VI Borgia recognsied the baby as the Prince Ottomani with full rights of a royal birth, ensuring that his descendants also receive their just caused rights in the Christian faith. Singularly to all the descendants of Principe Mehmed Sayd in the male primogenial line born in the Christian faith. According to the Letters Patent, only those born within the marriage in the Church of Rome and within the vows of marriage to ensure that true christian lineage continues from the legacy given to a friend and convert to the Church of Rome. This applies to the Prince Djem's son Pierre Mehmed and his descendants in the order of Primogeniture.
Further, the Church of Rome extends its ruling that if a child is born before one's parents marriage and is baptised will not be entitled to succeed. Pope Alexander VI clearly marked this in the letter's patent dated November 1492. To continue the lineal line of senior descent of Principe Djem Ottomani according to the orginal conversion acts set by Pope Alexander VI upon acceptance of onto the Church of Rome.

It is very clear that no descendants can style Prince or Princess due to the christian faith conversion over the generations, hence the exclusion from the Ottoman line of succession. This was also noted in a letter from the late HH, Osman V, 43rd Head of the house of Osman. The direct male line died out in 1683 when the next kinsman succeeded through the descent of 4th and 8th Prince Ottomani and acknowledgement of the Grand Master of Malta.
